TOJO SENTENCED TO DIE ON GALLOWS

Asks Special Session on China

Urgency Cited By Bridges

Asks President To Take Action

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Bridges (R-NH) today urged President Truman to call an immediate special session of Congress to consider aid for China.

Bridges made the suggestion in a statement issued from his office here. Bridges himself was in Des Moines, Ia., for a speech.

The Republican senator is chairman of the special "watch dog congressional committee" on foreign aid. That group was set up to keep check on the multi-billion dollar expenditures of this county for foreign aid both in Europe and the Far East.

Bridges said he fears that unless American aid is made effective immediately the communists will take "over the whole of China, lock, stock and barrel."

A special session of Congress, he said, would allow the administration "to place the real facts before Congress and the American public" regarding the Chinese situation.

MOSCOW DIRECTED

He said Congress should be able to take any speedy action necessary on the basis of such facts.

Bridges said, "Those communist forces now spreading over all of north China are no simple group of indignant patriots," but are controlled from the Kremlin in Moscow, and are part of the world wide communist movement.

Unless effective American aid is made available, Bridges said, the communists may even sweep into control of Nanking and Shanghai.

Bridges said the Chinese communists now are "gnawing out the vitals of our friend and ally, China." He added:

"Even the U. S. State Department, chief advocate of our previous contradictory and do nothing policy toward China" now admits the situation there is 'deteriorating' very fast and there is a grave problem."

Monopoly Charged

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)—The federal grand jury here today returned criminal indictments against six corporations including General Electric and Westinghouse charging them with monopolizing the $10,000,000 a year street lighting industry.

The indictments said Westinghouse, G. E. and Line Material company of Milwaukee made exclusive purchase agreements with Union Metal, makers of steel standards, in return for which Union Metal agreed to sell only through those three companies.

The defendants also were charged with fixing prices, allocating markets for themselves and conspiring on non-competitive bids.

The government demanded that Union Metal be required to divest itself of subsidiaries; that the defendants be enjoined from acquiring control of other companies, be enjoined from making sales on a delivered price basis, and be required to sell to all on an equal basis.

ITU Will File Compliance Writ

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. —(INS)—Clarence R. Martin, attorney for the AFL-International Typographical union, said today a statement of compliance with a federal court order would be filed Monday. Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert signed an order in Hammond, Ind., yesterday giving the union and its four top officers until Nov. 15 to file sworn statements outlining the steps they have taken to comply with an injunction issued last March 27.

Governors Change But Bob Stays On

COLUMBUS —(AP)— "Butler County Bob" has seen them come and go. Bob is a Llewellyn setter, given to former Gov. Frank J. Lausche by Judge Robert M. Sohngen of the Ohio supreme court, a Hamilton resident.

Lausche had to leave Bob behind when he was defeated by Thomas J. Herbert two years ago and couldn't take a dog to his Cleveland apartment.

Lausche defeated Herbert in the last week's election, and Herbert can't take Bob to his Cleveland home either. So Bob stays.

Dems Win, Still Have Money Left

County Committee Reports Profit

The Richland county Democratic organization had $344 left over after waging a successful campaign for county offices, the executive committee's report showed today.

The financial statement was among several filed with the county election board. Tonight is the deadline for filing campaign expense statements. The board can withhold certification of election if the successful candidate fails to report receipts and expenses.

The Democratic committee listed contributions totaling $1,772 and expenses amounting to $1,427.

The committee's report shows that 92 persons contributed to the campaign, the lowest contribution being for $2, the highest, $100.

Among the higher contributors listed were R. O. Darling, $50; Dolly Madison club, $62; Jack Berger, $100; Walter E. Rusk, $50, and Rollen Berger, $50.

Among the expenditures by the committee were $50 contributions each to the county Democratic candidates for their campaigns and $326 for newspaper advertising.

LASER SPENDS $373

The highest individual campaign cost so far filed with the board was that of Edward R. Friday, unsuccessful Republican candidate for clerk of courts. His statement shows he spent $373 and received no contributions.

The statements of other candidates, with the expenditures listed first and contributions received for their campaigns, follow:

Commissioner Guy F. Stewart, Democrat, $300. none; Fred W. Dill, Democrat, $223. $50 received from Democratic campaign committee; C. H. Chatlain, Republican, defeated for sheriff, $180, none; Engineer Walter E. Rusk, Democrat, $132, none.

The following unopposed Republican candidates listed no contributions and no expenditures: Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer, and Coroner Dr. D. C. Lavender.

Strike Delays Kitty Hawk's U. S. Return

HALIFAX, N. S. — (AP)— The Wright brothers flying machine waited today for a United States navy vessel to return it to its country of origin today, almost 45 years after the epoch-making flight.

The flimsy 600-pound Kitty Hawk arrived here from Britain aboard the liner Mauretania yesterday. The ship had been diverted from New York because of the maritime strike.

Dr. Paul E. Garber, curator of the National Air museum of the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C., said Orville and Wilbur Wright's plane would be taken to New York by navy ship, then trucked to Washington for display on Dec. 17, the anniversary of the flight.

HIGH STEPPERS—Majorettes from Mansfield Senior high school presented a snappy exhibition of precision marching last night as they led the band in the Armistice day parade. They are shown in the top photo high-stepping down Park avenue west. Some of the hundreds of youngsters who snake-danced around the business district last night shouting "Beat Hamilton" are shown in lower picture.

Spirits High For Contest

Tyger Fans Stage Huge Downtown Rally

By SHELDON BINN

If spirit means anything, Mansfield's got Hamilton licked already.

Hundreds of Senior high school's students, with a liberal sprinkling of boys and girls from other schools, staged a rip-snorting rally in Central park following the Armistice day parade last night.

The Mansfield Tygers and the Hamilton team will meet at 8 p. m. today at Arlin field in the final home game of the season for the Tygers. Light rain and mild weather were forecast for the game.

The cheer leaders gathered last night in the band pavilion at Central park and in a short time a large crowd had congregated, as loud cheers echoed through the business district.

As soon as the band finished its parade duty, it marched to the Square where it joined the crowd, which by this time could only be described as frenzied.

Then started the snake dance.

In and out of stores they went, screaming "Beat Hamilton" with such feeling that it hardly seemed possible the outcome of tonight's football game could be in doubt.

POLICE BUSY

Police had a whale of a time trying to keep traffic moving around the Square as the dancers

Bring Noisemakers, Grid Fans Urged

Tonight's Mansfield-Hamilton game promises to be the noisiest of the season. Students and adults alike are urged to bring noisemakers, except for whistles, and join in the celebration. Horns, bells, drums, and wash boards were suggested as noisemakers. Whistles would interfere with the officials' rulings.

City Honors War Heroes

Thousands Watch Armistice Paraders

Mansfield honored its war dead last night on the 30th anniversary of Armistice day with a mammoth six-band parade.

Thousands of persons lined the parade route as representatives of military, naval, veteran, and civic groups marched through the city's business district.

The roar of star-shell fireworks, fired from the roof of the Mansfield-Leland hotel, heralded the parade.

Although it marked a solemn occasion, the parade bore the earmarks of a more gala affair.

The paraders stepped off sharply at 7.30 p. m., with Parade Marshall Donnell G. Gale leading the colors and the American Legion band.

The smart stepping members of Co. F, 145 Infantry, Ohio National Guard and the Naval personnel followed.

Then came the Blue Star mothers in an automobile caravan. Drum majorettes from Mansfield Senior high school band led the Mansfield Organized Naval Reserve and members of the Amvets and Disabled American Veterans groups.

After the second section had passed, a short interval elapsed before the Madison high school and 164th Fighter Squadron bands appeared. Behind them marched the members of the 164th, the officers reserve corps and the 321 Bombardment group, Air Reserve.

Mansfield's two Junior high school bands, from John Simpson and Johnny Appleseed schools, brought up the rear, beating out the march cadence for Spanish American War Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine recruiting detachments, the Boy Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts.

STAGE 'JAM SESSION'

The Appleseed and Simpson band assembled before the parade at Park avenue west on Marion avenue and had a little jam session. They were on opposite sides of the street, each trying to outdo the other.

And the Senior high band, also in the spirit of modern jazz, was beating out a little rhythm in front of the Legion home.

The 164th band provided an invocation by riding on a truck, instead of marching.

The Senior high delegation stationed itself at Park avenue west and Main street. They gave their school band a rousing welcome as the 16 majorettes came high stepping down the street.

French Jail Red Leaders

PARIS —(INS)— Two communist French national assembly members face possible imprisonment today follwing yesterday's violent communist attack on a Paris Armistice day celebration.

Paris police confiscated all copies of two communist newspapers, L'Humanite and Ce Soir.

The arrested assembly members are Waldeck L'Huillier and Pierre Villon, who were taken into custody along with 14 other persons.

The police intervened after 2,000 communist rioters, spearheaded by members of a radical veterans' group, charged police lines guards at a Champs Elysees Armistice day meeting being addressed by Interior Minister Jules Moch.

She Didn't Know It Was Loaded!

Carmen Too Realistic, Stabs Don Jose

PITTSBURGH —(U.P.)— Operatic star Gladys Swarthout flavored her performance in Bizet's "Carmen" with a dash of realism at the Syria Mosque last night by accidentally stabbing her Don Jose.

Miss Swarthout drew blood from the wrist of Raoul Jobin, who performed the male lead, as they struggled over possession of a dagger near the end of the wild third act. The metal knife flashed down on his wrist and missed an artery "by a fraction," an attending physician said.

The incident passed unnoticed to the audience, although the fourth and final act was delayed several minutes while Dr. Frank Bailey of West Penn hospital hurriedly dressed the wound. Three stitches were needed to close the gash after the performance.

The entire troupe was on stage for the suspense-filled scene, set in a smuggler's camp. Jobin (Don Jose), spurned by the fickle but lovely Carmen, seizes her in a jealous rage as she intices a new conquest—the toreador (Carlos Alexander).

Here the scene climaxes in a struggle as Don Jose fights for a dagger which Carmen has pulled from her robes.

Bob Martin, director of the Mosque, said a wooden dagger always used for the scene had slipped unnoticed to the floor. To pick it up would have broken the continuity of the scene, he said, and Miss Swarthout immediately seized a metal knife from one of the performers.

Frank Chapman, Miss Swarthout's husband, said the scene was a "jinx." He said his famed wife suffered a serious knee injury in the same act of a Chicago opera "Carmen" production in 1942.

In an interview before the performance yesterday, Miss Swarthout was unconsciously prophetic when she told a reporter:

"But I would rather wear myself out and get hurt playing Carmen than to fake the role."

Induction Set For Nov. 26

First Draftees Enter Service

The first group of Richland county men called up for military service under the new draft law will be inducted Nov. 26, the draft board office announced today.

Four men will be drafted to fill the November quota, Mrs. Leah Maxwell, selective service clerk, said. They will be sworn in at 8 a. m. at the Mansfield Induction center, 20 South Park street.

The four men have not yet been notified, Mrs. Maxwell said. They will be selected after the results of the last pre-induction physical examinations have been studied. The draft board will meet tonight, and it is expected to select the first group of draftees.

The quota for December is in the process of being revised. Originally the number had been estimated at 18 for Richland county.

3 GROUPS EXAMINED

Sixty more men have been called for pre-induction physical examinations next Wednesday and Friday. Three groups totaling 49 men have been examined so far.

Mrs. Maxwell said the selective service office is still short-handed and is appealing for volunteer help. Typists are urgently needed. She said she would be willing to work evenings if someone would volunteer to help with typing.

She urged men to fill out each series of their questionnaires. Some of them, she said, fail to mark the questions, especially when they wish to indicate a negative answer. In such cases the board is unable to determine whether the men have considered the question.

She also requested that men send proof of physical disabilities when they return the questionnaires. Proof of such disabilities, such as doctors' statements, will save the men and the draft board considerable time by eliminating much of the processing.

Want Stumps Out of Lake

Charles Mill reservoir, east of Mansfield, drew the most heated discussions at a public hearing of district representatives before the State Conservation commission today.

O. M. Cummins of Mansfield, representing the Mohican Sailing club of 120 families, asked the commission to arrange lowering of the lake and removal of stumps which, he said, were dangerous to boats.

H. E. Russell of Ashland, representing the Ashland County Wild Life Conservation league, challenged the recommendation, saying the pool lowering and stump removal would endanger fish life.

Henry Huston of Mansfield backed Cummins' proposal as a representative of the Mifflin Lake Property Owners' association.

The Associated Press said district representatives offered an unusually small number of suggestions for changes. The principal one was extension of liberalized fishing throughout the state.

Representatives of Districts 7 and 4, which embrace southern and eastern Ohio, recommended unrestricted fishing in all the state's lakes and streams.

Two other changes were suggested. One asked that turtle and frog hunters be licensed; the other that the wild minnow possession limit of 50 be expanded to 100.

Mistaken For Deer, Ohio Hunter Killed

PEMBROKE, ONT., — (AP) — A Struthers, O., deer hunter was killed yesterday and his companion was held for trial on a charge of criminal negligence. The victim was Delmar Ralyan 51, who was shot in the back of the neck while hunting in the Aylen lake district 40 miles west of here. Police quoted John Adams, 38, also of Struthers, as saying he mistook Ralya for a deer.

Jap Premier, 6 Others Get Death Penalty

TOKYO—(AP)—Deaths on the gallows was decreed today for Hideki Tojo, the cold, calculating Japanese who led his country to ruin in the world's bloodiest war, and six of his 24 top leaders.

Life imprisonment was meted out to 16 others, including the Marquis Kochi Kido, close adviser to the emperor.

A seventeenth, Shigenori Togo, foreign minister at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack, drew 20 years in prison.

Aging, peg-legged Mamoru Shigemitsu, the statesman who hobbled aboard the battleship Missouri to sign the surrender terms in Tokyo bay, got seven years imprisonment.

An 11-nation court convicted all 25 defendants of war crimes. It sat for more than two and a half years. It took only 21 minutes to read the sentences.

Sir William Webb of Australia, president of the court, pronounced the sentences in a deathly silent and packed courtroom. Each man filed in separately and stood in an otherwise empty prisoner's dock to hear his sentence. Each attempted to subdue emotion, but varied reactions were noticeable.

TOJO . . . Must Die

Tojo took his death sentence with a wan smile. He bowed politely to the court as did most of the other men.

Seventy-four-year-old Gen. Jiro Minami, former war minister, seemed befuddled and surprised with his sentence of life imprisonment. Gen. Hiroshi Oshima, former ambassador to Germany, stood arrogantly as he was sentenced to life and stalked away without the polite bow.

Japanese greeted the sentences in varied ways. Some said they thought more would be hanged and others said they were sorry for the defendants.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Allied occupation commander, set Nov. 19 as the deadline for petitions in behalf of the defendants to be submitted to him as reviewing officer of the tribunal's decision.

No date for the carrying out of the sentences was set.

SET CLOSE GUARD

A close guard was placed on all of the Japanese for fear some might try to take their own lives.

Sentenced to hang were:

Former Premier Tojo, known as the 'Razor' during the war. The balding little man tried to commit suicide after the war. American blood plasma saved his life.

Gen. Kenji Doihara, 64, the Japanese undercover expert in China and Manchuria. He was nicknamed "The Bird of Evil Omen" by the Chinese and helped to seat Henry Pu-Yi on the puppet throne of Manchuria.

Former Premier Koki Hirota, a career man who was present at the pre-Pearl Harbor conference of former premiers when war plans were laid.

Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, former war minister and ranking Kwantung army officer at Mukden in the 1931 incident that started the Asiatic war.

Gen Heitaro Kimura, vice minister of war throughout Tojo's premiership.

Gen. Iwane Matsui, who commanded Japanese troops in the rape of Nanking

Lt Gen Akira Muto, army chief of staff in the Philippines.

15 Nazis Hanged

MUNICH, Germany—(AP)—Fifteen former guards at the Mauthausen concentration camp were hanged today for slaying more than 4,600 wartime inmates, including 47 British and American airmen.

They had been convicted by an American war crimes court of exterminating inmates by various methods, including shooting, hanging, beating, trampling, drowning, suffocation and injections.

Punishment Talk Rises

McGrath Sees Truman Lenient

KEY WEST, Fla. — (INS) — Top administration leaders are speculating today on the degree of punishment, if any, President Truman will mete out to office holders who did not support him.

Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath touched off the speculation when he told newsmen:

"The President is ready to forgive any venial sins but not mortal sins."

The Rhode Island senator made the statement when he was reminded that some high administration figures "sat on their hands" during the President's successful campaign.

Asked if these were headed for dismissal, he added: "The President is not geared that way. There are some the President can't held forgiving."

The President himself, who is resting after the campaign at the U. S. submarine base in Key West, has given no hint of his plans for reorganizing the administration.

Light Rain In Prospect

The weatherman today forecast mild temperatures for the week end with clouds blanketing Mansfield. Light rain was forecast for tonight and Saturday.

Temperatures will average three to five degrees above normal with cooler weather Sunday and little change thereafter. Occasional rain Saturday, Monday and Tuesday was forecast.

Yesterday's high was 52 degrees at 2:30 p. m. At 7:30 this morning the mercury had dropped to 40. At noon today it had risen to 45.

$512,925 Tax Receipts Seen

County Treasurer Charles C. Payne said today the $512,925 personal property tax charge probably will have been paid after today's mail is processed.

As of Wednesday, the last day for paying without penalty, a total of $473,144 was collected, Payne said.

See Wage Boost

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Predictions of a fourth—and final—round of postwar wage boosts came today from an administration official weighing prospects for labor peace during the new Truman term. The policy shaper, who asked not to be quoted by name, said he looks for the pay increases to average between seven and ten cents an hour.

Germans Hold 1 Day Strike

FRANKFURT —(U.P.)— Millions of German workers quit their jobs today in Germany's biggest strike since the war, called for one day by union leaders as a protest demonstration against the high cost of living.

Hans Boeckler, union chief of the British occupation zone, estimated that 8,000,000 persons were idle. Among them, he said, were more than 3,000,000 non-unionists kept from their jobs by the paralysis of local transport.

The strike was peaceful in its early hours, according to a check of typical centers from the North sea to the Bavarian Alps.

Madison Invades Fort of Unbeaten Bucyrus

Hope to End Grid Season With Upset

The Madison Rams will ring down the curtain on their 1948 football season tonight with hopes of erasing the sting of all past failures with one big upset. Beaten four times and tied once in seven games, the Rams will invade Bucyrus for a clash with the undefeated Northern Ohio league champions.

Bucyrus, by virtue of its seven triumphs and one tie, is a top-heavy favorite. It has speed in its touchdown twins, Bill and Dick Kibler, a fine passing attack, and a line which has been scored upon only five times.

A Madison victory would be a definite surprise but is possible. Coach Ennis Walker scouted Bucyrus Monday and reported that "Our boys can win this if they want to." The desire of eleven seniors to remember their last football game as a victory might turn the trick.

PLAY LAST GAME

Playing their last game in the black and gold outfits will be Captain Don Morris, Fullback Fred Durig, Halfbacks Larry Secrist, Carl Theaker and Gene Riblet, and Linemen Joe Distl, Jim Brightbill, Mike Lalli, Dale Cook, Robert Mehl and Mel Grimm. Managers Kenneth Kaser and Kenneth Barth also are seniors.

Walker indicated he would use the same lineup as in previous games except for a possible change at left end. Joe Distl, who was one of the few bright spots last week at Wooster, may start in place of Ed Locke.

Should the Rams break loose for several scores tonight, a change in the scoring leadership of the team would be possible. Durig is now the pace-setter with nine touchdowns while Tailback Secrist has eight. Chelski is the only other man to have scored a touchdown, having carried over on two occasions.

Don Hartman is credited with three conversions in 11 attempts while Bill Remy has two for seven. Jim Brightbill scored a safety by pulling a Newcomerstown runner down behind his own goal line.

SPECIAL BUS

The Madison players will leave the school by special bus at 6 p. m. this evening. Students and the band will make the trip in school busses.

Team members will be taken to the Bowling Green-Morningside (Iowa) game tomorrow at Bowling Green. They voted to see that game rather than Sunday's Cleveland-San Francisco pro tilt.

Final Exams Are In Order On Ohio College Gridirons

By BOB CUBBEDGE, INS Sports Writer

Final exams are in order for 12 Ohio college football teams this week end as "King Football" begins his hasty retreat for 1948.

Marietta jumped the gun on the state's other teams heading for a windup by dropping its season finale, 34-13, last night against West Virginia Wesleyan.

Tomorrow is the big day for the remaining 12, however.

Two straight undefeated seasons and a win-string of 18 straight will be the target of the Big Red of Denison against Case Tech.

A Denison victory would sew up possession of the Ohio conference title for the Big Red and give the Granville school a good claim to the mythical state crown.

Although Case has won just two of six games this season, the Denison huskies are likely to find anything but easy pickings. The Rough Riders knocked off rugged Baldwin-Wallace, 26-25, last week and have been pointing toward the Denison scrap.

Little Rio Grande closes its 1948 grid book in a battle with the powerful undefeated Heidelberg Student Princes. As for Ohio's two other unscarred elevens, Wilberforce rests this week while Bowling Green takes on Morningside.

Ashland and Hiram mark an end to this season's grid warfare together on Ashland's home grounds while Findlay and Ohio Northern do a bit of the same in the Polar Bears' territory.

Muskingum closes its season against Washington & Jefferson, and in other getaway games Kenyon takes on Sewanee. Defiance battles Bluffton, Capital faces Otterbein, Wilmington tangles with Thiel, and Wittenberg tackles Wooster.

Dayton Smashes into Oklahoma City and John Carroll plays host to Xavier in what may develop into the week end's top games

In Mid-America conference warfare involving Ohio schools, Western Reserve entertains Cincinnati and Ohio U. travels to Butler.

Other Saturday struggles find Mt. Union at Baldwin-Wallace, Wichita at Miami, Colorado college at Oberlin, Ohio Wesleyan at Lafayette, Canisius at Toledo and Gustavius Adolphus at Youngstown.

Kent State and Akron, Summit county's "friendly rivals," collide in tonight's only fracas.

'Hot' Hanover Leads Nation In Statistics

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— If you want to meet the hottest "little" football team in the nation, step right up and tip your hat to the Hanover Panthers from Hanover, Ind.

According to the latest statistics issued today by the National Collegiate Athletic bureau, the Panthers are far ahead both in team and individual records among the country's less publicized college football units.

Here's the way the Panthers stack up as a team:

1. They're the leaders in total yards, with 4,530 yards gained in seven games for an average of 647.1 yards per game.

2. They're the leaders in passing, with 134 completions out of 141 passes for 1,643 yards and the amazing percentage of .809.

3. They're the leaders in rushing, with a mark of 2,888 yards.

4. They're the leaders in punting with an average of 44 yards for 18 kicks.

It's the same story in the individual records—all Hanover!

Jim Peterson, the quarterback of the outstanding Hoosier team, leads the little college players in total offense. Halfback Hank Treesh topped the whole nation in scoring, and End Bill Klein ranked as the No. 1 pass receiver.

Wilberforce College Accepts Fish Bowl Bid

XENIA —(U.P.)— The Wilberforce State college football team is going to a bowl too The undefeated squad has accepted a bid to play in the Fish Bowl at Hampton, Va., Dec 4. The opposition will be Hampton college.

Officials said the team also had received feelers for the Vulcan Bowl in Birmingham, Ala., and the Fruit Bowl in Prairie View, Tex.

Shelby Football Banquet Is Set For November 19

SHELBY—The annual recognition banquet for the Shelby high school football team will be held at Richland Recreation Center, November 19 with festivities to begin at 6:30 p. m.

Announcement was made by that 150 tickets have gone on sale for the affair.

Speaker for the evening will be Wally Weber, freshman football coach at the University of Michigan. Weber is recognized as one of the cleverest speakers on the banquet circuit. As part of the entertainment he will show pictures of the 1947 Rose Bowl football game.

In addition to Coach Bill Wilkins' varsity squad, the Junior varsity players of Coach Joseph Yohn will also be honored. Tickets for the banquet can be purchased at Dalton's, the Brunswick, Stevenson's Drug store, and at the principal's office at the high school.

New Hampshire Plow Horse Outruns Kentucky Champion

SALEM, N. H. — How are they going to keep Big Red down on the farm?

Big Red, a stocky plow horse, moved in on the "horsey" set by coming off his New Hampshire farm yesterday to win a special match race at Rockingham park.

The Farmhands' Man O'War (the thoroughbred champion, incidentally bore the nickname "Big Red.") "Big Red" won by a length and a half over Superfiler, Kentucky plug horse champion owned by Prentice Burgan of Cynthiana, Ky.

Travelling like a bowery bum caught in a Park Avenue penthouse, Big Red ran the half mile in 1:03 to cop the $1,000 winner-take-all prize money.

The money went to 17-year-old Milton Scully of Salem Center, N. H., who rode the farm horse to victory—but Big Red will not go unrewarded.

Young Scully promised to keep his mount in "oats up to his neck for the rest of his life"—and Big Red is big.

Scully said he will use what's left of the prize money after he has put away enough for feed—toward a college education for himself.

Immediately after the race, Scully issued a challenge through Lou Smith, managing director of Rockingham, to any plug horse in America at any track

In the two-horse race Big Red broke alertly at the command of starter Bob Frend and opened up a one-length lead in the early stages

He increased the lead to two lengths when Superfiler, ridden by Barney Stone of Lexington, Ky., lost ground by going to the center of the track.

A crowd of 23,144 stayed around for the laughs but found reason to cheer wildly.

'Pappy' Waldorf Infers California Has Bowl Chance

SAN FRANCISCO —(U.P.)— Coach Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf today admitted that his undefeated Golden Bears of the University of California "may" get into the Rose bowl as the Pacific coast conference representative.

The admission was strictly by inference. The Rose bowl wasn't mentioned—but University of California will have a scout sitting in the stands when Northwestern plays Notre Dame on Saturday.

"There's a good possibility that Northwestern may be involved in a post-season game around New Year's day," explained Waldorf. "And we just thought it would be interesting to know how they play."

Waldorf went even further. He said there also was a chance that Minnesota, which has three remaining Big Nine games to play, might squeeze into the bowl picture—in case Northwestern should drop one after taking the expected pounding from the Irish on Saturday.

"In that case, we'll start scouting Minnesota, too," he pointed out.

The perfect record Bears have two more tough games to go themselves before they start looking ahead to the Pasadena classic. This Saturday it's Washington State, the highest-scoring team in the conference; and the week following it will be the traditional "big game" with a Stanford club that always is "up" for the finale.

Plymouth Pigskin Team Ends Season

CARDINGTON — Plymouth high school will complete its first football season here tonight by meeting Cardington in quest of its third victory in seven games.

The Pilgrims have had a two-week layoff since defeating the Shelby reserves. Plymouth also has beaten Willard reserves while losing to Norwalk St. Paul's, Huron and Carey.

Ohio Staters Rest Before Illini Battle

DANVILLE, Ill.—(AP)—The Ohio State university football team came here today to spend the time until they clash with Illinois for the Bucks' fifth Big Nine game of the year.

Tomorrow they go to nearby Champaign to take on the Illini in a game that could make or break any Rose Bowl dreams the Buckeyes may have. They have won two—over Indiana and Wisconsin—and lost two—Iowa and Northwestern—in conference play. In addition they have knocked off Missouri, Southern California, and the University of Pittsburgh in non-league games.

How much of a chance this gives Ohio State is known only to the Rose Bowl people out in California, but the Buckeyes hope and hope.

TAKES EVERYBODY

Coach Wesley Fesler took everybody along on the trip, even his ranking cripples. Thus he may try to get some use out of them if the going gets desperate at Champaign tomorrow.

The cripples are Fullback Joe Whisler of Willard, Ends Bob Dorsey of Houston, Tex., and Charlie Gilbert of Columbus, Quarterback Pete Perini, New Village, N. J., and Guard George Toneff of Barberton.

"We're as strong as we can be under the circumstances," Fesler said.

Going with the 36 varsity men and their retinue of coaches, managers, and trainers are 30 junior varsity players who meet their Illinois counterparts this afternoon.

Kid Galivan Meets Pellone

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Kid Gavilan, classy Cuban welterweight contender, and tough Tony Pellone of New York were expected to attract nearly 10,000 fans for their 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Harry Markson, the 20th Century club's managing director, said the advance sale indicated that Pellone might prove a greater drawing card than Tony Janiro of Youngstown, O., who originally was slated to meet Gavilan tonight. Janiro withdrew last week because of a back injury.

Police Beat Hasty Retreat

Angered Monkey Defeats Allied Forcs

LEXINGTON, Ky — (U.P.) —Patrolmen Horace Anderson and Lloyd Lindsay were glad to get back on their mtorcycles.

Wednesday the two and several volunteers tried "Bring 'em back alive" tactics on a loose monkey. The officers and spectators didn't bring him back.

The report came in from an irate motorist. Seems this monkey was sitting in a corner of his garage, charging at him every time he entered.

The officers went to the garage. They found the monkey sitting in the corner, all right. In fact, Anderson took one look at the baleful monk, decided discretion would be the better part of valor, and took off for home to get a fish net.

One of the bystanders put on gloves and reached in to get the monkey. He drew back his hand, looked at the rips in the gloves, and decided that he, too, had pressing business elsewhere.

The men decided to use strategy, to wit: someone would have to put his bare hand close to the monkey's face. The monkey, they reasoned, would leap at it. The man would draw his hand back (they were correctly counting on reflexes here), the monkey would follow—and jump right into the net.

Some valorous, but unfortunately anonymous spectator stuck his hand in the monkey's face, according to schedule. He retired from the battle with several gashes

The rescue attempt failed miserably when an elderly spectator got whacked on the head with the broo mhandle. The monkey chewed on Anderson a while longer, and casually departed. The officers retired to treat their numerous scratches.

At last report, the monkey was sitting in the corner of the garage.

Rain Is Forecast For Notre Dame's Clash With 'Cats

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — (INS) — Rain, which can play fifth man in anybody's backfield, is forecast for tomorrow's Notre Dame-Northwestern football classic at South Bend, and thereby may hang the ball game.

Frank Leahy, the Notre Dame football coach came up with the information that he'd be glad to win "by one point."

The last time Coach Leahy stated he'd be glad to win "by one point" was just before the Notre Dame-Purdue game on Sept. 25 of this year. Notre Dame was returned the winner by a score of 28 to 27.

In most places Notre Dame is a two-touchdown favorite.

But rain can change all that. It can distrub the passing of Notre Dame's Frank Tripucka, who so far has completed 45 of 70 aerials for 481 yards, seven touchdowns and a .643 completion percentage. And it may prove treacherous enough to affect the Notre Dame running attack, which will be bothered somewhat anyway because of injuries to the two starting halfbacks, Terry Brennan and Emil Sitko.

West Virginia Eleven Rips Marietta, 34-13

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. —(AP) —West Virginia Wesleyan stalled Marietta college on the ground yesterday and gave the Ohioans a 34-13 grid beating.

The winning Bobcats scored in each period behind top line play. The Pioneers made two of their 16 successful passes count for touchdowns. They tried 26 throws.

Melio Bettina Fights Felpi of Argentina

NEW YORK —(INS)— The 20th Century Sporting club announced today it has arranged a ten-round bout between heavyweights Melio Bettina, Beacon, N. Y., and Enrique Felpi of Argentina.

The bout is scheduled to take place Nov. 19 at the St. Nicholas arena.

Top Contenders

ATHENS—With a season record of four wins and one loss, the Ohio university cross-country runners loom as top contenders for title honors in the annual Mid-American conference cross-country championship to be run Saturday over the University of Cincinnati course.

Do You Want A Home Instead of a House?

Before Nov. 17, we will present a plan that assures security and happiness to ambitious men who want to make money to give their families the comforts of life. This opportunity today is giving men associated with us the certainty of buying new homes. Are you living in a house instead of a home? You may by working long hours with no step forward year to year. If you can't save one-third of your earnings monthly to get the things you want for your family—there are two main reasons for this: 1. You are not making enough money in your present job. 2. You are not in the right position (for you, personally.) Because of the shocking percentage of people in these two classifications our corporation has allowed this office to show you an honest presentation, the means to a secure future with our organization. Since this is not the ordinary sales proposition, we will present our plan only by appointment in your home in the presence of your wife. Her happiness is contigent on your success, and we want you both to know the facts, that we know will help you if you have the qualifications and are selected by our company. HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Social Security Will Be Increased Shortly

By MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON—They are going to increase social security. President Truman promised it in his campaign and Governor Dewey matched him. Since the election, Mr. Truman's promise has been made specific and given out in detail by Democratic leaders.

The proposed increase is from a present two per cent of a worker's pay, half paid by the employer. In a typical case, a worker getting $50 now pays fifty cents a week, and his employer pays the same. The worker gets a credit of $1 on the government's social security books, to be returned to him when he reaches 65 years of age. As now proposed, worker and employer will each pay 75 cents a week, and the worker will get a credit of $1.50.

They call it increased social security, which sounds good; no doubt that is the reason it was promised by both presidential candidates—$1.50 of social security sounds better than $1. But there is a better promise the candidates could have made. They could have said in effect:

"We will make social security sound. We will see to it that the worker gets back what he has paid in—gets it back not merely in figures on the books, but in fact. We will see that the 50 cents the worker gets back is the same 50 cents he paid in—the same, that is, in purchasing power. We will see to it not only that he gets back his 50 cents, but that it will buy him the same amount of goods as when he paid it in."

That promise, if made by President Truman, would be a confession and an atonement. What has been done to the social security beneficiary is an outrage, economically and socially. The government has kept the letter of its pledge, it pays 50 cents back to the worker who paid 50 cents in. But the letter of the pledge has not been enough; there is the spirit of it.

A worker who paid in 50 cents at the time social security was started, in 1937, could have got for the money a very good meal. No doubt he reflected, with satisfaction, that he was providing himself each week with one good meal against the time when he should reach 65 years. But if he reaches 65 today, the same meal would now cost him twice as much. With 50 cents, 10 years ago he could have bought four quarts of milk, today only two. And so on as to meat, eggs, practically every form of food.

It is much the same as to clothing, and nearly everything else a worker consumes. With variations, but in roughly the same proportion, the story is the same for practically every form of goods—exact figures for scores of commodities can be found in the World Almanac or any similar book of reference. And it is in terms of commodities we must see it, not dollars and cents.

Any person would be glad to forego the increased social security which President Truman now promises, if the government would enable him to get as much ham and eggs today as he was able to get when he turned his social security payments over to the government 10 years ago or less.

For the detriment to social security beneficiaries caused by the shrinkage of the dollar—that is, for the increases in prices of food and other goods, of cost of living—government is almost wholly responsible. As to some of it, the government might be forgiven, for some took place during the war, and prices rise during all wars. But with the ending of the war the people had a right to expect that prices would begin to go back toward normal, especially food prices. That would have been the course of nature.

But the Truman administration, immediately after the end of the war in 1945, adopted policies and followed practices which kept prices up. They adopted a policy of promoting raises in wage rates, already at an abnormal high during the war. With raises in wage rates came increases in prices of goods. The policy of price support for farm crops, by its effect on many farm products, kept food prices from going down. Cost of living, instead of beginning to fall at the end of the war, rose still higher. Correspondingly, the social security money which workers had paid in to the government shrank in purchasing power.

What the administration ought to do for social security beneficiaries now is to restore the purchasing power of the money they have already paid in to the government. The obligation is peculiarly strong, for the government holds this money as a trust. The obligation cannot be met by more social security. What is needed is simple "security" in the ordinary sense, security of the purchasing power of the money which social security beneficiaries pay in to the government.

Nation's Granaries Chock Full

More Pork In Sight

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The nation's granary is chock full.

A prolonged growng season together with excellent conditions for late-maturing crops have prompted the Agriculture Department to raise its 1948 production estimates still higher.

In its semi-final report late yesterday, the department figured the 1948 corn crop at 3,649,510,000 bushels—399,560,000 bushels above the previous record in 1946 and 82,000,000 bushels above the October 1 forecast.

Last year corn production totaled only 2,400,952,000 bushels. The 1937-46 average was 2,813,529,000 bushels.

With corn leading the way, the department also upped its estimates on such major crops as soybeans, sorghum grain, rice, buckwheat, dry beans, potatoes and tobacco.

Only a few crops are smaller than appeared likely on October 1. These include peanuts, sweet potatoes, sugar beets, apples, pears and grapes.

The mammoth corn crop means more and better pork chops and probably lower prices eventually. But not now because many months are needed to raise a slaughter animal.

Consumers will have little if any more meat next year than this. There will be enough to supply each civilian about 140 to 145 pounds of meat in 1949, the department estimates. While about the same as this year, the anticipated supply is well above the 1937-42 average of 134 pounds. A peak of 155 pounds was reached in 1947.

While the news is good for pork chop devotees, it's not so good for those hankering for steaks.

Pork will make up a greater part of the 1949 meat supply than this year with the spring pig crop expected to be 15 to 20 per cent larger than in 1948.

But with the number of cattle declining steadily since 1945, even fewer cattle are expected to be slaughtered next year than in 1948. It is likely, however, that more cattle will be grain fed next year, producing better quality of beef.

In mid-December the department will issue its last general crop report for the year. It will include final figures for wheat, oats, barley, rye and some other crops not included in this report.

Monday End Of Rule

OTTAWA, Ont. —(INS)— W. L. Mackenzie King will end his long diplomatic career next Monday when he tenders his resignation as Canada's prime minister.

The 73-year-old King, who has served as premier longer than any other man in the British empire, has announced officially that he will hand his resignation to Governor General Viscount Alexander Monday.

He will have served 21 years, five months and eight days.

Lord Alexander disclosed that after King's resignation he will call on Louis St. Laurent to form a government.

The governor general said there will be few changes in the government set-up other than Laurent becoming prime minister.

King exceeded the historic record of William Pitt, who during the latter part of the 18th century and early in the nineteenth was prime minister of Britain for nearly that length of time.

King's last official public appearance was at Armistice day ceremonies yesterday in Ottawa. He purposely set the date of his retirement so that it would exceed Pitt's record.

Harassed Newsmen Await Royal Youngster's Birth

LONDON—(UP)—Two of the most harassed newsmen in the world stood by today for an urgent summons to Buckingham palace to report the birth of a baby to Princess Elizabeth.

They had been standing by all the week, afraid to go to their suburban homes lest the summons come in the middle of the night. British transport all but ceases then, and it would be hard for them to get to the palace in a hurry.

The reporters are the court correspondents of the two British news agencies. They are the only newsmen permitted, under palace custom, to cover court events.

Louis Nicholls of the Exchange Telegraph and Louis Wulff of the Press association were the two who will flash to the world the news that the heir or heiress presumptive has been born.

They will wait in the press office of the palace for the news of the birth. They will be summoned at the same time as Sir William Gilliatt, royal obstetrician and the assistant he chose, Mr. John Peel. British specialists are called Mr., never Dr.

It will be a far cry from the day of Queen Anne, wife of King James II. So many court retainers, male and female crowded into the royal bedroom to watch her accouchment that the embarrassed queen asked the king to hide her blushing face in the copious curls of his peruke.

That was the birth that gave rise to the legend of the warming pan. During the proceedings a maid brought in a warming pan to put in the bed. The queen had been sickly and had given birth to four children who died young. The legend grew that the maid, instead of bringing hot coals in the warming pan, brought instead a changeling which was passed off as the queen's own baby.

Historians since have observed that the only way to put a baby in one of those warming pans would have been to break its neck. But from that day until last week, when King George scrapped the custom, the home secretary was required to attend royal births to certify that no changeling had been involved.

Fishing Law Hearing Set

COLUMBUS —(UP)— The State Conservation and Natural Resources commission will hold a public hearing here today on fishing regulations for the 1949 season.

Seven conservation districts which include all counties in Ohio, will be represented by a farmer and a sportsman's representative from each district.

Recommendations advanced by the delegates and those of private individuals will be weighed. The commission expects to adopt tentative rules and regulations for the season immediately following the hearings.

Organized sportsmen were expected to move to abolish the regulation which requires fishermen to display licenses on an outer garment, a commission spokesman said.

Youth Narrowly Misses All But Spanking, Collects That

NEWPORT, Ky.—(INS)— He wasn't shot or killed by police—but almost.

He wasn't hauled off to jail—but almost.

But he does have a woodshed session coming up with papa—definitely!

A 16-year-old climbed out of his bedroom window and borrowed his father's car. The father woke up and reported it missing. He called police

Sgt. Jack Thiem spotted the auto and gave chase. He was about to open fire when the youth stopped. The father refused to prosecute—in court, that is.

Said the boy:

"I'll never do that again."

Said the father:

"I'll take care of him in my own way."

Seek Cream Colored Auto In Brutal Colorado Sex Slaying

Young Co-ed Raped, Then Strangled

Auto Seen Only Clue

BOULDER, Colo. —(UP)— A cream colored automobile with Wyoming license plates was sought today as the car driven by the "maniacal" sex slayer of a pretty University of Colorado coed.

Police spread an alarm for the automobile seen prowling Boulder streets Tuesday night, when 18-year-old Theresa Foster, a quiet, studious freshman in the college of engineering, said goodbye to her friends at a campus religious club and started walking home alone.

Her savagely beaten body was found beneath a bridge at a lonely spot 15 miles south of here yesterday by two hunters. She had been beaten into unconsciousness, raped and strangled. Except for moccasins, bobby sox and coat, she was nude.

Dr. Angelo Lapi, an autopsy specialist from Denver, said the girl's scalp was "beaten to a pulp."

"This stands out as a brutal type of sex slaying," he said. "Only a maniacal individual could do it."

Lapi said the slayer had struck the girl's head with a gun butt and raped her while she lay unconscious. Then, he said, the slayer apparently "pushed her face into the ground, and twisting her jacket collar, he strangled her."

The girl's hands, covered with blood, were thrust upwards as though shielding her face. A pair of slacks she had been wearing and her underclothes were piled neatly on the bank of the steep ravine where the body was found.

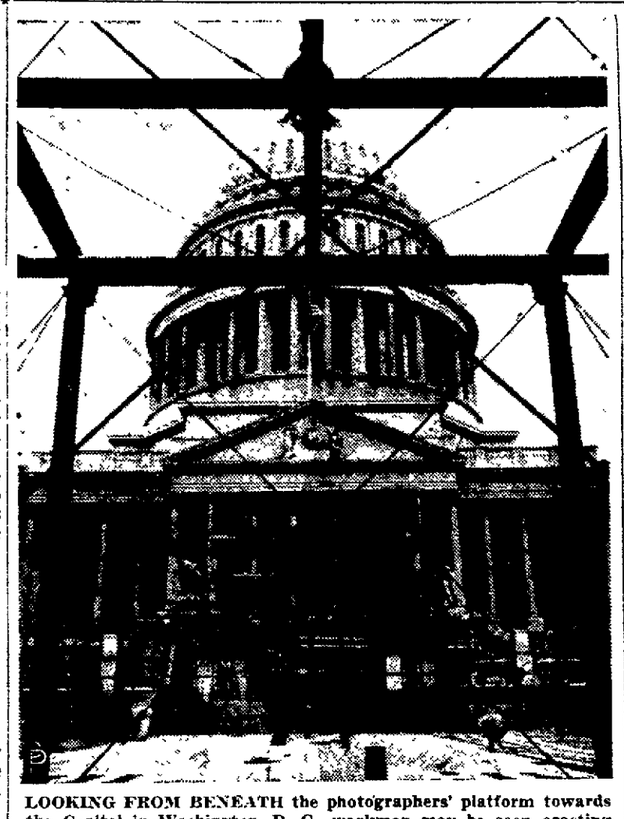
Fresh snow wiped out any tracks the killer might have made when he left the scene of the slaying.

Her scarf and ring, and broken pieces of a .45 caliber automatic pistol were found near a puddle of blood beside a road on the outskirts of the city Wednesday.

Detectives admitted that the strange car seen cruising through the streets the night she disappeared was a slim clue, but they had few others to go on.

Her "steady" boyfriend, Bob Weidenkeller, 17-year-old Estes Park, Colo., high school student, was questioned by police and released.

"She was a swell girl," he sobbed. "I'll never find another girl like her."



LOOKING FROM BENEATH the photographers' platform towards the Capitol in Washington, D. C., workmen may be seen erecting the stands where President Harry S. Truman will take the oath of office on Jan. 20. Congressmen and honored guests will be seated in the reserved spaces on the wooded deck pictured in the foreground.—(International)

Raps Unions On Safety

The un-cooperative attitude of some union officials in the mining industry about proper safety regulations is a definite factor in that industry's high casualty rate, L. O. Reiter said in a talk yesterday at a luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club.

Representing the Bituminous Coal Institute, Reiter cited the example of a mine being closed temporarily by government inspectors because of men smoking underground. "When the mine re-opened and the "no smoking" rule was enforced, 700 men walked away from their jobs, "he said.

Reiter discussed the future of the bituminous coal industry and mentioned the invention of the powdered coal burning gas turbine as a revolutionary propellent in future rail transportation.

"American miners are the most highly paid industrial workers in the world, averaging last year a weekly wage of more than $66," Reiter said.

The bituminous coal indsutry is trying to mechanize mining more and more in order to meet such high costs of labor, the speaker said

Program Chairman Elmer Hedeen introduced the speaker.

Strike Halts New Generating Plant

Commonwealth Awaits Birth

Plan Grand Reception For Royal Baby

LONDON — (AP) — The birth of Princess Elizabeth's baby—expected this week-end — will be hailed throughout the British commonwealth with music, flag-wavnig and a flood of good wishes.

The commonwealth lands are no less eager than Britain herself to welcome a royal heir in a spirit unmatched since last November, when in Westminster Abbey against a background of centuries-old English tradition, Elizabeth became Prince Philip's wife.

In Sydney and Melbourne electric carillions will signal the birth Excitement is rising throughout Australia and New Zealand which the royal family will visit next year. Most cities as well as small towns plan a festive weekend.

South Africa which Princess Eliabeth visited on a royal tour in 1947 also will rejoice.

In the homeland, city will vie with city in Scotland, Ulster and Wales. Fittingly Edinburgh from whose name Philip takes his dukedom, has planned an elaborate celebration. Fireworks will be set off and the skirling of bagpipes will be heard in the picturesque streets.

From the park of the tallest hill in Edinburgh a great red rocket will be fired and patriotic burghers vow its fiery tail will be seen as far away as Scotland, miles to the west.

The navy, army and Royal Air Force here and overseas have been ordered to unfurl flags, march in review and fire salutes.

In Buckingham Palace all is in readiness for the birth. Helen Rower, veteran nurse, who will attend Elizabeth, arrived last night as arranged. Physicians are standing by for call at any moment.

Mansfield Union Does 'About Face'

Local 711 Backs 758 Unit at Ideal

Local 711, United Electrical Workers (Westinghouse) which has banned communists from union office today did an 'about face' and went on record supporting Local 758, UE, which has taken an opposite stand on the same issue.

A purported majority of workers at the Ideal Electric company, who had been represented by Local 758, have quit that union to affiliate with an AFL union because Local 758 blocked an attempt by Ideal employes to introduce a measure which would ban communists from holding office in the union.

Joseph Hawkins, Local 711 president, who released his union statement supporting Local 758, declared that Local 711 is opposed to the "raiding" tactics of the AFL, but that its record on communist officers speaks for itself.

Local 711, by backing Local 758, is supporting a group which is diametrically opposed to Local 711 on a vital issue.

Roy E. Burns, a spokesman for the group of Ideal company employes who have signed cards stating their desire to join the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, declared that AFL was not "raiding" and that Local 758's refusal to ban communists in office resulted in the desire of the majority of workers to join the AFL.

Youth Placed On Probation

Earl Frisch, 19, of Shelby charged with burglarizing the Farm Bureau cooperative store and warehouse in Shelby last June 24, was placed on probation today for five years by Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch.

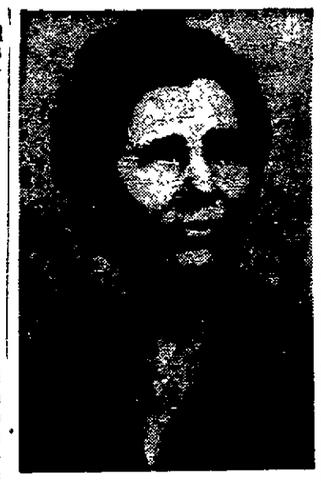
Frisch who had no FBI record, had entered a plea of guilty on arraignment Oct. 20. Sentencing was deferred until his background and record could be checked.

Shelby police who made the arrest said tools, gloves, knives wrenches and a radio, all valued at $195, were taken in the burglary.

Practice Dance Session Set

A practice session in western folk dancing will be held at the YMCA Saturday from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. in preparation for the western jamboree next week. Miss Mildred Moxley, recently of Texas, will be in charge of instruction.

Next week's dance will be the first in a series of events jointly sponsored by the YMCA and the YWCA. Joseph Damoff is chairman of the double "Y" dance committee. John Fike, physical director of the YMCA and Miss Dorothy Hamer, industrial secretary of the YWCA, are committee advisers.



MISS MARY HOFFMAN, music supervisor in Peeble's high school and former music teacher in Shiloh schools and who wrote a music column for The News-Journal, will play a prominent part in the Wilmington college Educators conference at Wilmington today and tomorrow. She will lead a panel discussion and lead a conference concerning elementary school music.

Strengthen Labor Unit, Hoover Says

Postal Set-Up Change Urged

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Former President Herbert Hoover urged a "strengthened" labor department and the removal of 20,000 postmasterships from politics.

Hoover spoke as chairman of the 12-member bi-partisan commission on organization of the executive branch. He gave reporters several tentative findings of the commission's "task forces" on streamlining the federal establishment.

He predicted the final recommendations, if adopted after being presented to Congress in January, will save "a good many million dollars" when placed in operation for "say five years."

On the question of rebuilding the labor department, stripped of many functions by the Republican-controlled 80th Congress, the former Republican president said:

"The thinking is to strengthen the labor department.

"We're not going to tear anything out of it, as some people have thought."

The commission has reached tentative but unanimous conclusions on three of its 24 fields of study, Hoover said. He named them as:

1. Creation of a "service" agency to be a presidential staff. It would embrace the budget-making activities, supply procurement, accounting and other functions now performed by various agencies which provide services for the rest of the government.

2. Organize a career service to cut the "tremendous turnover" of civil servants. Pay increases for employes above the $5,000-a-year level should be granted. The Civil Service commission should be stripped of its labor-recruiting function, and this task should be handed back to the various agencies.

3. Reorganize the Postoffice department to cut its deficit by perhaps $200,000,000 to $3,000,000 a year. This would involve setting it up as a "revolving fund" agency— one which sells a product and uses the money to meet its expenses—instead of an agency wholly dependent on appropriations "even for the purchase of bicycles."

Family Wiped Out By Gas

PITTSBURGH—(UP)—A family of five, including three children, was found dead last night of carbon monoxide poisoning in the basement of a home the father was building in suburban Ingomar.

The dead were William Chrizman, 33, a welder for the Pittsburgh Coal Washing company, Ambridge; his wife, Frances, 28, and their three children, Florita, 7; William, 6, and Joann, 3.

The bodies were discovered by Frank Alba, a brother of Mrs. Chrizman, who had stopped to bid the family goodbye on the eve of his induction into the Navy.

Film Stars Shun Culture, Actor-Promoter Declares

HOLLYWOOD — (UP) — If the outside world pictures Hollywood filled with dope dens and populated with pugnacious drunks it's nobody's fault but the tinseled gods and goddesses who live here, one of the gods has declared.

You can sell 'em sex and you can sell 'em sin, says Actor Vincent Price, but when you try to peddle "culture" you run smack into a solid wall of "stupid ignorance."

"I probably shouldn't say this," he said. "But I'm going to. I get so blankety-blank mad.

"They scream to high heaven about the reputation Hollywood's getting from people like Robert Mitchum and Bob Walker. But when you try to get 'em to support something cultural they shrug their $5,000-a-week shoulders and brush you off."

And, Price added, he is just about the "most-brushed-off gent in town. He and his Modern Institute of Art.

"We have over 1,600 voluntary members," he says, "and outside of Edward G. Robinson and Fanny Brice, there's not a single Hollywood star who's interested. We opened a year ago and we've had 35,000 visitors."

But no movie stars. They're away at the races or the fights or Ciro's or Palm Springs.

Frankly, Price says, he wants the Hollywood trade because the museum can use the money.

"But the stars all turn me down," he said. "And you'd be flabbergasted if I told you the names of some of these would-be highbrows."

PAGE EIGHT MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1948

Any idea that the mustache is due for a comeback in political circles is now being discarded.

It won't be long now before alert children will be dropping hints about what is wanted for Christmas.

An item passing around is to the effect that "the ability to imitate bird calls is one that must be cultivated"—but why the "must"?

Impetus Given 'Comic Book' Cleanup

NOW THAT there is appearance of interest by Parent-Teacher groups, and possibly some others, in the subject of objectionable "comic books," to which children have ready access, it may be hoped that something will actually come of it and that there will be a sensible sorting of the "good" from the "bad."

While censorship of any sort is resented by some people, it cannot be doubted that there are sources of printed smut, vulgarity and incitement to crime that must be guarded against if impressionable children are to be given a fair chance to escape such dangers to morality and proper conduct.

Mere request to retail dealers in questionable literature will be unlikely to serve the intended purpose, as these dealers can scarcely be expected to choose from the avalanche of lurid "comics" that hits their counters each week.

Any committee that takes upon itself this big task would also have its hands full for quite awhile, and there would be need for good judgment in making selection of books that should be banned and giving an OK to the unobjectionable sort.

Merely as a suggestion, it is mentioned here that Floyd Dent, Boy Scout executive in this area, has had long experience with this, and related problems, and would probably have some valuable suggestions to offer on best means of approach to the projected cleanup of books that are unfit to be within easy reach of the children of this community.

Beware Furnace Tear-Down Racket

WARNING against "rackets" of various sorts is recognized as a part of a newspaper's service to its readers, and it seems advisable at this season of the year to repeat a warning of a year ago having to do with need for caution in dealing with strangers who represent themselves as furnace inspectors and who later resort to fraudulent methods in attempting to replace what may be an entirely serviceable furnace.

This form of racketeering has heretofore been brought to public notice, locally and by Better Business Bureaus in larger Ohio cities, and similar practices are now being revealed in Detroit, where the procedure is referred to as a "widespread furnace tear-down racket" that has been warned against by the Detroit Better Business Bureau.

The plan, as reported, is for original approach by a salesman whose only purpose is to secure a contract to clean the furnace for a nominal charge. Then a "workman" appears and dismantles the heating plant, after which he says he can go no further—and leaves. Next comes an "engineer" who tells of dangers involved in trying to continue use of the furnace and indulges in high-pressure salesmanship in an effort to sell a new one to be supplied by the firm he represents.

The pattern, as revealed in Detroit operations, bears such similarity to methods employed in Mansfield and some other Ohio cities in recent years that it again seems timely to advise strongly that constant vigilance be maintained to avoid being victimized in this way.

In This Case Charges Must Be Proved

CHARGES of federal payroll padding against Representative J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey suggest a possibly interesting avenue for the efforts of federal budget trimmers. If he should be convicted, it would be quite reasonable to suppose that there might be ground for other similar actions.

The prominence Representative Thomas has achieved as chairman of the House committee on un-American activities doubtless will focus much attention on his trial.

Should the trial result in acquittal of the congressman, other searches for payroll padding would become unlikely. Mr. Thomas, in that case, would learn at first hand the effectiveness of later acquittal or vindication in modifying the stigma of unproved charges.

Industrial Progress In Germany

INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION in the Western zones of Germany reached 70 per cent of the 1936 level in September. That indicates good progress, but not enough to meet the needs of the country at a satisfactory level.

It is hard to find a good basis for gauging German industrial production. By 1936, the year chosen for comparison by the military government, the rearmament program already had begun to have great effect on German industry. In later years this effect increased. In earlier years German industry was in an unsettled or depressed condition because of treaty restrictions, political unrest and currency troubles.

Output of leather products reached 60 per cent of the 1936 level, and production of shoes, as a specific example, was roughly equal to the supply available to the civilian public before the war. This was at the rate of about one pair of shoes per person per year. Before the war Germans, inspired by the Hitler program, apparently found one pair of shoes a year sufficient.

It is not expected that German industry will be brought to the pre-war level, which was set by the requirements of preparation for war. A lower level, with all output going to meet civilian needs, should be enough to put Germany on a self-supporting basis. But there are no convenient yardsticks for determining what that level should be.

Scarcity of turkeys is explained as being the cause of higher prices this year—just as if an explanation was necessary!

What Some Other People Are Saying

Wait Till He Gets to the Next Stall.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Polls Exerted Unjustified Influence

POLLS struck to earth will rise to poll again. But it is to be hoped that in the future they will limit themselves to measuring trends and refrain from predictions.

Polls have a useful place in the process of government, but because they have so often been right or because they claimed to be right, they assumed powers and pretensions which were neither wholesome nor justified.

The polls had uncanny influence over some politicians. Dewey, whose precise mind was attracted by their "scientific" pretensions, followed the polls with great interest.

Finally, this indulgence resulted in disaster. For the campaign was tempered to the rhythm of the polls, and followers were lulled to sleep.

But Dewey can hardly be blamed for this. The Gallup polls were a powerful factor in getting him the nomination in 1944. He was so far ahead of other contenders before the convention that year that he scarcely had to seek the nomination at all. It was different this time, because the threat of Eisenhower in the polls early in the year stimulated his followers to intense activity.

Elmo Roper, in explaining what happened, points to an exceedingly important reason why things went wrong. He estimates that an abnormal percentage of those interviewed answered "Don't know." Most of these reticent people, he thinks, voted for Truman.

* * *

Well Kept Secret.

HUMAN nature being what it is, we may assume that the reason so many Truman voters failed to indicate their preference was their fear of being out of step, out of fashion or unpopular. Secretly they preferred Truman, but they hated to do so publicly.

But it is difficult to see how Roper or anyone else can accurately measure such subtle traits in human nature. We may know that such motives are present, but measurement is impossible.

Polls can still be useful in guiding the managers of a campaign. They indicate where and when greater efforts should be made to educate voters or to induce people to vote. But such polls taken by party managers should be secret.

There is a factor which, it has always seemed to me, will forever frustrate efforts to forecast accurately the result of elections by polls alone. Let us assume that at some future time the polls obtain such accuracy that they can state exactly on Oct. 1st how the voters feel at that time.

And what is most miportant, let us assume that all voters know this poll to be accurate. In that case, this knowledge will most certainly change the result. Those who favor the Oct. 1st favorite will work less actively.

Those who want to vote with the winner will mount the bandwagon. The results, therefore, will be changed. Human nature will frustrate science. But this year all signs failed.

It has always been my practice to rely more heavily on the opinions of local newspaper reporters than on polls. In the past they have always been more accurate. Even this time, they were more accurate about the Senate races. But they, too, underestimated Truman's strength.

So while the polls are the heaviest sufferers in this upset, it is only fair to say that all observers must share some of the punishment which human nature inflicted on the experts.

The Nation Today

So Many 'Little Things'

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Some of the political experts who called the snot wrong on President Truman's election are back in business, explaining now why Mr. Truman won.

Labor did it, says one. The farm vote did it, says another.

Actually, there's no single answer to the election.

The majority Mr. Truman got was due to a combination of things in the heads of many people.

Not all farmers and union members who voted for him did so simply because they were farmers or union members.

And Mr. Truman couldn't have won at all if millions of people who are not farmers or union members hadn't voted for him.

And perhaps the size of the vote — it was expected to pass 50,000,000, but may barely hit 48,000,000 — means that some of Dewey's supporters were over-confident and didn't vote at all.

As for farmers and union members —

True, labor supported Mr. Truman because it was sore at the Republicans for passing the Taft-Hartley Act.

And undoubtedly labor was a strong factor, maybe even the deciding one, in many places.

But Mr. Truman lost both Pennsylvania and Michigan, where labor is strong, although—

In Michigan the Democrats elected a governor and gained two House seats in Congress and in Pennsylvania they won 16 House seats where they had had only five.

While in other states like Illinois and Ohio, the labor vote may have made the difference in giving those states to Mr. Truman—

He still wouldn't have won them if the non-labor people hadn't backed him, too.

And mid-western farmers surprised the experts by voting for Mr. Truman.

But was their only reason — as it's reported to be — their fear the Republicans wouldn't keep up farm prices if they won?

* * *

Not To Be Overlooked.

WHAT about the personal reasons of some of the farmers, some of the labor people, and those non-farm and non-union millions who voted for Mr. Truman? For example, people like these:

The ones who voted a straight Democratic ticket simply because they always have voted that way, and their families before them.

And those whom Mr. Truman pumped full of fear of Wall Street, or a bust, if the Republicans won.

And the ones who admired Mr. Truman for his uphill fight and gave a sympathy vote to the underdog because they didn't see much other ground on which to choose between the candidates.

Or those who approved his promised program, which is a New Deal program: or those who accepted Mr. Truman's description of the Republicans as a bunch of do-nothing obstructionists.

Or those who resented what they thought was Dewey's coldness and his failure to state his case clearly.

Or those who felt insulted because they looked upon what he said as pious generalities and platitudes.

Or those who voted against Dewey because he had a mustache. Think that's a silly reason?

(Thomas A. Bailey, analyzing why people voted as they did in past elections, says in his latest book, "The Man In the Street":

("Some of the personal issues are trivial if not frivolous, ranging from the illegitimate child of one candidate (that was years ago) to the mustache of another,"

For Sound Teeth

The value of fluorine as a preventive of dental decay has been amply proved by the U. S. Public Health Service, by the dental profession, and by scientific surveys and checks of several cities where sodium fluoride has been added to the domestic water supply for four years.

One survey finds that there are some 8,000,000 people with 50 per cent fewer dental caries than the national average, living in widely separated localities of the country but using domestic water from deep wells containing natural fluorine.

In Newburgh, N. Y., during the last four years, sodium fluoride added to the water supply has reduced the incidence of dental decay by 15 per cent among 7,500 children. Neither the color nor the taste of the water is changed by this treatment.—Detroit News.

Dixiecrats Rushing Back To Bandwagon

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Nowhere is the States' Rights party breaking up faster than in Gov. J. Strom Thurmond's own home state — South Carolina. Not only are South Carolina's repentant Dixiecrats scrambling back on the Truman bandwagon, but they are considering punitive action against their erstwhile leader.

The South Carolina legislature is actually cooking up a full-dress investigation into Thurmond's campaign. What the legislators want to probe is the charge that Thurmond traveled in a state-owned Cadillac, driven by a state highway patrolman, while campaigning for the presidency on the Dixiecrat ticket.

The legislature also is curious about his expenditures for stationery, postage stamps and office help — the highest of any governor in the state's history. Some legislators suspect this was not all spent for state business, but partly for campaigning.

Also in line for a political spanking is South Carolina's Congressman Mendel Rivers. The Charleston congressman refused to run with the rest of the delegation on the Truman ticket, insisted on putting his name up with Thurmond, and campaigned actively for the Dixiecrats.

Loyal Democrats will now try to classify him as a Dixiecrat, thus forcing him to lose his seniority on committees, and giving him about the same influence as the Labor party's lone Vito Marcantonio.

South Carolina also is moving to give its electoral vote to Truman instead of Thurmond. Originally the state Democratic committee voted to pledge its electoral ballots to home-son Thurmond, but is now planning to meet again and reverse itself.

Note—In spite of all the anti-civil rights oratory, South Carolina's two senators, Olin Johnston and Burnet Maybank, stayed loyal to Truman. As a result, both probably will be rewarded with a committee chairmanship — Johnston as head of civil service, and Maybank as acting chairman of banking and currency.

New Farm Program.

SECRETARY of Agriculture Brannan's farm experts are already sharpening their pencils to rewrite some of the farm legislation passed by the 80th Congress.

And though farm policies haven't received as much publicity as the famed Taft-Hartley Act, the new farm program is going to be just as important to about one-third the people of the United States. Here are some of the moves to be launched as soon as the new Congress reconvenes:

1. Cancellation of the 80th Congress ban against the government's additional grain-storage space. This ban was sneaked into the farm bill by ex-Congressman Roger Slaughter of Kansas City, whom Truman once purged. Because the government can't acquire storage space, it can't take up sufficient grain and wheat, and many farmers have to sell below parity.

President Truman will order ECAdministrator Hoffman to stop buying grain for Europe through private companies. This chiefly benefits Argentina and foreign grain brokers, costs the U. S. more.

3. Secretary Brannan will press for ratification of the international wheat treaty, guaranteeing American farmers a stable foreign market. This was vetoed by the 80th Congress.

4. Brannan will urge both a permanent price-support program for farm products, plus controls through acreage limitation. If farmers start overproducing any single commodity, production could be cut by reducing price supports—were it not for the fact that this hurts little farmers, who can't compete with big farmers. For this reason, production controls have to be kept for stand-by use.

5. Because of the meat and milk shortage the agriculture department will encourage more production of beef cattle and dairy cows. This will be part of a new program to increase the variety of farm products, instead of a few basic war products.

6. Soil conservation, crop insurance, rural hospitalization and rural housing will also be part of the new farm program.

Nuremberg's Social Season.

SOME interesting things have been taking place at Nuremberg, where high-placed German war criminals are supposed to be on trial for their lives, not enjoying the winter social season.

However, the wife of war-crimes Judge James Morris of Bismarck, N. D., has frequently invited Baroness von Schnitzler to the U. S. Army PX, despite the fact that the baroness's husband is in jail charged with committing ghastly war crimes. Chatting together gayly in public, the two women act as if they were bosom friends.

Another jurist, Judge Curtis G. Shake of Knox county, Indiana, conceived the brilliant idea of inviting several German defense attorneys to dinner at the Grand hotel, where Germans generally are denied admittance.

Judge Shake presided at the trial of the I. G. Farben industrialists, who operated one of Hitler's chief war industries and who also conducted one of the most atrocious slave-labor camps.

It's significant that the I. G. Farben defendants got off with lenient sentences.

Assignment: America

'Twixt Age and Youth

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — The handful of Democratic legislators who are hanging around Capitol Hill and the national headquarters these days are re-discovering that old business about how unexpected victory can bring its own headaches.

Currently, they're quietly doing a lot of behind-the-scenes spadework to reshuffle their committee lineups in the Senate and the House in terms of tradition as well as their election triumph.

The problem is finding acceptable spots for those old-timers who are coming back, after brief absences, and simultaneously satisfying the young newcomers who they feel played a terrific role in the party's return to power.

Particularly in the senate is this problem out-standing. Two typical cases in point—who probably won't be personally competing for any particular spots, and thus can be used as examples without prejudice—are Guy M. Gillette of Iowa and Hubert H. Humphry of Minnesota.

In age, service and normal terms of party protocol, Gillette represents the "old" and Humphrey the "new."

The handsome, white-haired 69-year-old Gillette already has put in a decade on Capitol Hill, serving in both Houses. His personal political strength as a Democrat could not be better demonstrated than by recalling that he survived the attempted "purge" of the late President Roosevelt to win his Senate seat in 1938, although he generally had voted along the lines recommended by FRD.

Once pointed out by a lady visitor in the gallery as "that man who looks like a senator," Gillette generally managed to act that way, and consequently was both liked and respected by his colleagues on both sides of the aisle.

Although often termed a "liberal," even in the mid-thirties he was considered a steadying committee influence when the White House was turning on the pressure for some particular measure.

Although his seniority suffered from the four years he has been away, a good many old-time Democrats would like to see Gillette in a key position to temper the terms of White House "requests" next session, just in case history repeats itself.

* * *

He Had 'Em Scared.

Humphrey's case is almost the reverse. This will be the 37-year-old Minneapolis mayor's first term on the Hill, although he is fairly well-known in Washington. The man who beat Senator Joe Ball has been kicking in and out of politics almost since his college days, and saw service on the old W.P.A., and the War Manpower commission.

What makes the boys study his case with particular care is that some weeks ago they were whispering that he had sabotaged the party—and nowadays they are whispering that he saved it!

It all grew out of the Democratic convention in Philadelphia. Chairman of the Minnesota delegation and member of the resolutions committee which was building the party platform, Humphrey fought what some termed an "almost single-handed" battle for the extremely strong civil rights plank.

Later, he told reporters quite frankly that he felt such a strongly-worded plank was necessary in Minnesota, "and elsewhere," to combat the feared inroads Henry Wallace might make on the party.

When he climbed on the rostrum and exhorted Democrats to come out of the shadows of states' rights into the sunlight of human rights," most of the crowd roared its applause, but party old-timers shook their heads—and the states' rights Democrats subsequently walked out.

It was then that he was charged with scuttling the party. But today, at Democratic headquarters, they tell you that Humphrey's civil rights plank which cost thirty-eight electoral votes in the South probably won at least seventy-eight elsewhere—California, Illinois and Ohio, to be specific. "Pretty good swap," they say.

It's a cinch Humphrey won't be left out in the cold when committee posts are passed around.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

A NEW comet has been sighted which doesn't seem to know in which direction it's going . . . This would be understandable if it were over Albany.

* * *

Reportedly it's just barely discernable to the naked eye . . . or about the current visibility of the Republican party.

The American Anthropological association is going to examine the pre-election polls . . . They made monkeys of enough people to warrant it.

* * *

But one psychologist claims polling methods have been advanced five years by 1948's mistakes . . . They are now ready for 1953 if not 1952.

* * *

In the incoming Congress the minority will move for a constitutional amendment providing that the next president shall be over 35, a native citizen and a registered Republican.

This should stop the current trend in the American home toward promising small boys that if they will eat their spinach they may grow up to be Democrats.

Beware Hornets' Nests

By CALVIN A. BYERS

AFTER the leaves are off the trees, the hornets' nests still cling to the naked branches. I know of three within a short distance of our home. One hangs in the big maple along our drive, one is in a beech at the edge of a neighbor's woods, and one is part way up the slope in a young cottonwood.

Beneath the maple branch a large nest smung and small boys walked softly all summer when passing beneath. Now the lowermost portion—the pointed end—is ripped and severed, until the sides hang out like a ragged garment. Directly below, on the grass, I saw the remnants of a yellow heap of larvae. Two busy hens had got there before I did, and the remains were scattered. The young grubs had been ruthlessly pulled out of their perpendicular cells and dropped from their cradles to perish.

Examination of all the nests revealed a similar condition. No signs of life were visible anywhere. It seemed a good time to get a closer look at one of the specimens. So a boy cut it down. The paperlike structure swung by a braided twisted cord and was shaped so that rain would run off. Waterdrops seemed to roll as if the surface was oiled.

Twigs had perforated the outer wall. I observed the even spaces between the lines of brood cells.

Once, as a boy walking to church along a wooded path, I saw such a nest and swung a green apple at it. The shot was aimed at the opening in the end, and the hit was square.

Immediately, as if it had followed the course of the missile back to me, a hornet struck my lips and stung, with an angry offensive odor.

They have a horrid smell, and my lip began to swell so fast that I didn't go to church at all, but retraced my steps homeward and went directly to bed. For several days I was the laughing stock of all my family. Now I never go by a hornets' nest without paying my respects.

The queen, of all the brood, escapes and hides under shelter of some rock or rail until spring brings her forth to begin another cycle.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the nest is the insulation. Blisters of paperlike material are sealed into the shell so that it holds the coolness of morning through the murky days.

To Dunk or Not To Dunk?

Dunking doughnuts is Sober Hopkins' favorite morning pastime ... and for a long time Ma Hopkins has been trying to break him of the habit. Feels it sets a bad example for the children.

So one morning she puts a heavy frosting of chocolate on the doughnuts ... figuring that will stop him. Sober thinks it over for a while and then: Dunk! Taste? Smile!! And Sober compliments the missus on the lovely mocha flavor!

I guess there'll always be two schools of thought: to dunk or not to dunk. But from where I sit, it's a matter of personal choice and taste—like some folks prefer beer to cider, ale to beer. And the less we criticize those differences of taste, the better.

In fact, Ma Hopkins got so curious about the flavor of chocolate-covered doughnuts dunked in coffee, that she tried it herself. Now—you've guessed it—she's a daily dunker, too!

Shop Wisely And Eat Well

The cost of food products being what they are, the smart housekeeper is watching every angle of food buying and preparation to be sure she is getting the most for her money. She must plan carefully, buy wisely and avoid waste. In planning her meals, she watches the weekly grocery ads for specials and takes full advantage of any cut in prices. If she has a large family, she buys roasts, stew meat, ground meat and fish rather than chops and steaks. Left-over roasts can be utilized to feed the family sometimes as much as two additional meals, and a definite quantity is purchased with just that plan in mind.

There are many recipes using left-overs that make them company fare, and this is specially true of roasts. From portions of yesterday's roasts can be built today's succulent meat pie which may be served tto family or company with assurance. The left-over pie, if any, can go into delicious baked hash, thus furnishing the main dish for one more meal. If there is not enough leftover for hash, buy a can of the commercially canned hash (which is not quite enough for the larger family) and add to it.

MONDAY MEAT PIE

1 teaspoon minced onion
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups canned consomme or seasoned beef stock*
2 cups diced cooked beef, pork or veal
1 recipe Bran Baking Powder Biscuit.

Cook onion in fat until lightly browned. Stir in flour and add consomme. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens Add diced meat and pour into casserole. Cover with Bran Baking Powder Biscuit. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) about 20 minutes or until biscuit is done.

Yield. 6 servings

*Stock made from bouillon cubes may be used

BRAN BAKING POWDER BISCUIT

½ cup ready-to-eat bran
¾ cup milk
1½ cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening

Soak bran in milk. Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt together. Cut in shortening until mixture is like coarse cornmeal Add soaked bran, stir until dough follows fork around bowl. Turn onto floured board, knead lightly a few seconds, roll or pat into a round about ½ inch thickness.

Yield: 12 biscuits (2½ inches in diameter)

To make a sauce for barbecued spare ribs combine a quarter cup of cider vinegar, a half cup of savory bottled thick brown sauce (the kind usually used as an accompaniment for cold meat or steak), one and one half teaspoons salt and two teaspoons prepared mustard. Pour the liquid mixture over about three pounds of fresh pork ribs and bake in a moderate oven for about an hour and a half Baste frequently with the sauce, adding a little water at the end of the roasting if necessary

Praise Junior And Help Him Win Confidence

Every once in a while, we adults enjoy an encouraging pat on the shoulder. So does Junior! Don't be afraid to spread the praise on thick even when Junior does something of a most minor nature You gloat to friends and neighbors over your child's progressive achievements Why keep these accomplishments a secret from the boy or girl?

The very young child finds play something of a chore when he's just learning to coordinate. Each word of praise is a stimulant to the boy or girl and impels him or her to bigger and better things

If he's playing with building blocks, go in to ecstacies over the "house" he's building, whether or not it's a reasonable facsimile of a dwelling," advises A. C Gilbert jr., educational toy maker. Above all, don't persistently admonish him Repeated don'ts bewilder Junior and give him a sense of futility On the other hand, fullsome praise will give him confidence He'll be encouraged to try his hand at building something else This, of course, stimulates his imagination, develops better coordination and inspires him to explore the full play possibilities of an educational toy

Like an adult Junior cannot concentrate on too many things at one time Many and different kinds of toys are desirable but only let your child play with one or two at a time Thus, he can devote his attention to the matter at hand and is more likely o keep himself amused.

Expert Says Today's Family Is OK

If you are a wife and mother who has been worring about the decline of the American family, you can stop being distressed says a leading expert—there is nothing wrong with today's family.

"The cold facts about present-day family life add up to anything but a crisis," writes Albert Deutsc but a crisis," writes Albert Deutsch.

The divorce rate is not rising, he adds, and juvenile delinquency is going down not up. He insists that the American family is as stable and strong as it was in mother's, grandmother's or great-grandmother's time

Mr Deutsch advances the idea that the attitudes of American parents today are more wholesome than in grandmother's time and although the present family has fewer children—the children are more loved and wanted

The prophets of family doom, says the author, grossly underestimate the great advances being made in general living standards which has done much to enlighten and stabilize today's family

Treat Your Floors As You Do Rugs

Floors can be preserved for years beyond their normal life if you treat them with the same care you do your rugs

Valuable advice on the proper care of the floors in your home is contained in an article in House Beautiful magazine, which states in part

"Mop the floors every day or so. Vacuum the floors frequently and thoroughly with the cleaner attachments Don't count on a mop .The object is to get up hard grit that may be ground into the boards or scratched over the surface A mop merely redistributes these abrasive particles"

"Wax the floors regularly. Wash the floors only when dust and dirt so becloud the surfaces that they cannot be cleaned in any other way. This may be only once every few years; it may be more often. In any case use a mild soap solution and as little water as possible. Just wash off the grime and quickly remove the slight soapy residue with cloths dampened with clean rinse water."

"Cut out splinters Do not rip them out—that only leaves a worse scar Use a sharp knife Then fill the crevices with plastic wood and sand smooth"

"Nail down loose protruding and squeaky boards Use floring nails and drive them in diagonally along the endges of the boards Countersink the heads and fill with plastic wood"

"Unfortunately, even this simple, yet resultful regimen is by no means guaranteed to keep your floors always in the pink It must be supplemented with occasional strong-arm tactics—in other words complete refinishing"

Handkerchiefs should be hung over the line and pinned in the middle instead of at the corners

Preservative On Market For Wallpaper Proves Success

WALLPAPER can be kept fresh, alive, and new-looking almost indefinitely if given the right care and protection.

"If your decorating plans include wallpapering, plan in the same breath to protect it as soon as it's hung with a preservative that will keep its beauty safe against soil, grime, discoloration, and spots," an article in the House Beautiful magazine advises. "You will be repaid many times for the nominal time, trouble, and expense involved. And you'll prolong the life and service of the wallpaper."

Where there are children in the house, a wallpaper preservative is virtually mandatory to protect the paper walls from sticky fingers, fingerprints, and pencil and crayon marks that seem to be part of growing up, the article points out.

"You save yourself a lot of mental anguish in all-adult households as well when you know that inadvertent fingerprints and stains, along with grime, can be easily wiped or washed off wallpapered walls," the article states.

Among the better known preservatives for wallpaper are lacquers, the article points out, asserting:

"Wallpaper lacquers are transparent, colorless lacquer solutions especially developed for surfacing wallpaper. You paint them on with a soft brush. One coat of most of them dries to a virtually flat finish. They develop a slight gloss when two or more coats are applied. Most preservative manufacturers advocate two coats of lacquer for complete protection, and even three in bathrooms and kitchens where wallpaper needs extra protection against steam loosening the wallpaper edges at seams. Lacquer type preservatives offer the most complete protection for bathrooms and kitchens because they dry to a hard, almost impenetrable finish."

Party Clothes Now In Season

By DOROTHY ROE
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)

This is the time of year when a woman's thoughts turn to party clothes — something nifty to make the girls at the club sit up and take notice—something sleek and sensational for that cocktail party.

It can't be mere coincidence that dress manufacturers are well aware of this seasonal urge, and are shipping glitter frocks galore to shops all over the country right about now. You can find them in all price ranges and in many handsome new fabrics. If you're the conservative type, you'll like the range of gray tones in dress-up clothes. If you take your color straight, you'll go for the jewel-toned dresses designed for holiday wear.

One of the most popular styles of the season is the cocktail dress and jacket. You wear the outfit complete with demurely high-necked, long-sleeved jacket to your daytime pursuits, remove the jacket to reveal a low-cut party frock after sundown.

The stiff, rustly fabrics such as taffeta and faille are in high favor for dress-up wear this season, with clinging crepes also holding their own. Newest are the muted Victorian colors and changeable or irridescent taffetas, but there are still plenty of glowing colors around for women who like to be vivid.

Then football fans, eager for sharing opinions, enthusiastic for a bit of dancing; extricate the cars from the swarm in the parking lot and head for Mary's home with the promise of refreshing snacks.

It is Mary's knowledge of the palatable, energy-producing qualities and varied uses of honey, with which the family larder is always stocked, that gives her confidence in inviting impromptu some ten or twelve to her home. PHILADELPHIA — At 65, Mrs. Bernice Orend is an accomplished bricklayer, carpenter, paperhanger and needleworker.

Mrs. Orend, a widow who lives alone, recently completed a brick balustrade on her front porch. She designed, mixed mortar and laid porch railing and pillar by herself.

"No one helped me," says this amateur bricklayer. "I knew I could do it.

"It cost my neighbor $900 to have his porch fixed. I decided to do my own."

Now she's laying a cement floor on the porch.

Mrs. Orend's seven-room home is loaded with her craftsmanship.

She paved her backyard and her cellar. Potted plants in heavy cement troughs and porcelain vases—all hand-made — fill the yard.

A double lath fence in the yard is also her work. She painted the walls in every room after tiring of papering the walls.

Her other handiwork includes a lace portiere at the kitchen door; crocheted inserts on the window shades; a lampshade made of plastic hat straw and stenciled and trimmed with ribbon, and two chandeliers of plain and colored crystals created from ordinary electric ceiling brackets.

QUINCE HONEY

Wipe, pare and grate 5 large quinces, add 5 pounds sugar to 1 pint boiling water. Stir over fire until the sugar is thoroughly dissolved. Add quinces and cook 20 minutes. Pour into glasses. When cold it should be the color and consistency of honey.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, November 13

It is fortunate that on this day the mind is attuned to the reflective, analytical, substantial, and practical, since there is an augury of the strange, erratic and unreliable in the feelings and emotions. These are keyed to intensity and a wilfull determination to indulge such fancies, desires and inclinations. There may be all sorts of lures, snares, or temptations to wean from the "straight and narrow pathway. It would be easy to be duped into hazards with funds.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year calling for the utmost vigilance and watchfulness against subtle snares and temptations, in which the feelings and emotions are in the lead, urging to all manner of subtle indulgences and gratifications, with menace to reputation and integrity. Yet the mind is capable of good judgment and common-sense conclusions if permitted to hold against emotions. Loss of possessions, funds, and prestige are possible.

A child born on this day, may have inner conflicts between the mind and the emotions, with ability of choice as to which are to be served. Heavy penalites may follow sordid drives.

Sees Re-enactment of T-H Bill's Essentials Under Different Name

There are early indications that President Truman, having a "mandate" now, will cause his Congress to re-enact the essentials of the Taft-Hartley law under another name. It was small of him to deny Taft and Hartley due credit for the reform which they almost wrought, but that is politics.

However, Taft and Hartley would be the last to claim that they actually revealed the crimes of unionism or even were the first to oppose them. They studied the facts, managed a new law through Congress in good political weather and put it through again over the veto. In the process, however, it got cluttered like a chattel mortgage and the result has been a law which most of those concerned, including me, never have been able to plod through and couldn't have understood anyway.

The odds are that Green and Murray have never read it but took the word of parasite shysters of the racket that it was bad for them. And it may be taken as a fact that Mr. Truman hasn't read it either. This being so, the fact is plain that the citizen-voters who were exhorted to destroy it lest it destroy them, had read only the self-serving damnations of the act which were hollered up and down the land by the licensed grafters and their political patrons.

The Taft-Hartley law did not totally forbid the closed shop, although even Frances Perkins, late secretary of labor, once was forced to say it should be forbidden. That she did in a speech to a national convention of the A. F. of L. in Seattle, a stronghold of unionized journalism ,which significantly failed to send the news to the country.

Even Roosevelt himself was tricked into condemnation of the closed shop when in the scrap with John L. Lewis about the "captive" coal mines, he said that to force the miners into John L.'s union would "be Hitler's way." Lewis himself has admitted that the union shop and the checkoff would not be necessary if the men were willing to maintain their membership and pay their tribute to him. In other words, they aren't willing.

As the pioneer campaigner against rackets, persecutions, irresponsibility, riotous picketing, discrimination, job-selling, life-tenure of office in unions, secret financial accounts, communist manipulation, corruption of the public ballot by union crooks with union money, corrupt union elections, involuntary strikes, compulsory picketing and the tenure of office by unpardoned convicts, I nevertheless felt dissatisfied with the Taft-Hartley law.

I have seriously doubted the wisdom of our having any national union law at all, for it has seemed impossible to write an enforceable law which could serve the nicer purposes desired without causing corruption. The Wagner Act was such a leering imposition on the people's gullible trust that I may have been driven to an extreme position by hatred of the hypocrites involved and the criminals whom they deliberately invited to power.

But it is plain that we are condemned to suffer certain effects of some such law and the prudent thing in that case is to make it as beneficial as we can.

Firm Makes Money By 'Cracking' Safes, But It's Strictly Legal

NEW YORK—(AP)—The best safecrackers in the business aren't in business for themselves.

The are a secret corps of experienced men trained by safe manufacturers to foil professional yeggmen, help and advise police—and open locked strongboxes themselves in case of emergency.

"It takes ten years or more to school a good safecracker," smiled John Mosler, 26. He is a fourth-generation member of a family which has been making safes and bank vaults for 100 years.

"We get calls all the time to open safes for people who forget the combinations.

"We keep the identity of our own men secret, and we don't like to divulge much about them. We don't want them kidnaped."

That isn't an idle fear. Once a group of Chicago gamblers learned the identity of a Mosler expert and summoned him in the dead of night to a downtown address.

He was then forced into a car and driven to a gambling den operated by the gang. It turned out the gamblers had lost the combination to their own safe. The expert drilled it open for them. The gangsters then handed him a $50 bill and sent him on his way.

Young Mosler said burglaries are rising and predicts "a tremendous increase in the event of a financial depression.

"Safecracking is largely a depression industry," he said. "During the war thousands of factory workers became familiar with electric drills and explosives. If times get bad, some of them are sure to turn to safe blowing."

The burglars are much less of a problem than fire.

"The public generally doesn't understand the difference between a safe and a money chest," said Mosler. "A safe is burglar-resistant but its chief function is to protect business records against fire.

"Any safe built before 1920 isn't likely to be very safe either from fire or burglary," Mosler said. "We've learned a lot in the last quarter century.

"A smart yegg might be able to open an old safe by touch, but it is impossible for him to do so with a midern safe. This Jimmy Valentine stuff is pretty much baloney."

Where is the best place to keep a safe?

"If it is a large safe with a money chest welded inside," said Mosler, "don't hide it. Put it out in the open under a spotlight if you want to.

"Unless he can cart it off to a place where he can work at it at leisure, any smart safecracker will take one look at it and pass it by. He'd rather tackle one of the old cheeseboxes—there are plenty still around."

The Mosler firm, largest in the world, built the door for the vault at Fort Knox that guards the nation's gold. It also turned out the safe that held George Washington's wooden false teeth at the New York World's Fair.

Disaster Institute Planned

Six Cities Will Be Represented

A disaster preparedness institute for Mansfield and Richland county Red Cross workers will be held here on Dec. 6 and 7, L. L. Mishey, chairman of the disaster preparedness committee, said today.

The institute has been promised for Mansfield as the result of the recent week's visit of Mrs. Bess Augsburger, executive secretary, to the area office at Alexandria, Va.

"Disaster is one of two things for which the Red Cross was originally chartered," Misbey said. "Naturally, we want to keep in touch with the latest methods and programs available from national headquarters. Mrs. Mae Chesney, a representative of the area, will be here to lead this discussion."

Last year, according to Red Cross officials, $12,000,000 was spent on disaster aid and rehabilitation.

Representatives from Galion, Ashland, Mt. Vernon, and Mt. Gilead will be invited to attend the institute. Shelby workers, as a part of the Richland county set-up, will automatically be included in the two-day session.

A report on the institute was given by Mrs. Augsburger at the monthly board meeting this week. She also told workers here that the National Red Cross expects to save at least $750,000 this year, with the consolidation of the North Atlantic and Eastern areas, which during the war were divided for better and more efficient work. Harold Newman will be manager of the area.

Board members here appropriated $250 for the making of garments for veterans in hospitals. These garments will be made by women of the First Presbyterian church as a sewing project for the Red Cross. The project will be under the supervision of Mrs. J. J. Dunn, production chairman.

Miss Virginia Casperson, recently employed as a part-time Junior Red Cross secretary, was presented to board members. Mrs. Stuart Weaver becomes a member of the board replacing Mrs. Dunn, who resigned.

Plane Crash Ends 3 Week Record Try

LONGVIEW, Tex. — (AP) — The attempt of endurance fliers Pred Vinmont and Bert Simons to crack the world's record of 726 hours ended last night in a crash-landing.

The two men had been in the air 529 hours when they were forced to come down about 11 p. m. (CST).

Vinmont suffered a fractured nose in the landing. Both men were hurled from the plane. Houston Dean, ground chief for the fliers, said the plane's engine "froze" at between 900 and 1,000 feet. The pilots radioed they were coming down.

Junior to Reign at Homecoming Ceremonies

Beverly Brissel Wears Crown

By NITA BRANSON

Queen for a day!

It's a brief title but one full of glory for the junior girl at Mansfield Senior high school who wore the crown today.

The homecoming queen is Beverly Brissel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brissel, 471 Sloane avenue. Known as "Bev" to her classmates, Beverly, who will be 16 Thanksgiving day, today was crowned queen in ceremonies at the 10:30 a. m. assembly at Senior high.

It's the first time as a queen for Beverly, but not the first time she's been a member of a queen's court. She was an attendant at Johnny Appleseed while in the ninth grade.

However, a girl gets to be queen only once in her school years at Senior high. Today Beverly wore a flower crown of red and white pom-pons, placed on her head by last year's homecoming queen, Betty Erickson. The queen wore a white corduroy suit.

Crowning of the queen came at the close of a new type assembly, under the supervision of Miss Ruth Dunham, junior class adviser.

ATTENDANTS SPEAK

Garbed in red corduroy suits, Beverly's four attendants, Charlotte Boyd, Audrey Pirrgo, Suzanna Adams and Betsy Clark, each spoke on a much-desired trait for high school students, dedicating their talks to their queen.

Audrey spoke on "Scholarship"; Betsy on "Character"; Suzanne about "Service" and Charlotte on the subject of "Leadership."

Following their talks, there was a humorous dialogue by Janet Hardin and Bill Bride on "Love Versus Football." Then the program became a little more serious with the playing of "Pomp and Circumstance" by the high school band.

As Betty Erickson took her place on the auditorium stage, she was attended by small Pat Snyder in full football regalia. Out of a huge football the crown was taken and placed on Betty's head, amid the cheers and hurrahs of Senior high students.

Tonight Beverly and her four attendants will be driven onto Arlin field in an open car, all costumed in court regalia designed by Ethyl Battin, Mansfield dance instructor.

During the half of the football game between Mansfield Tygers and their old rival, Hamilton, there will be spectacular coronation ceremonies for Beverly and her court. It will be a part of the band show put on by the Mansfield Senior high school band. Hamilton's band also will participate in the half ceremonies.

Tyger Fans Stage Rally

weaved in and out across the Square.

They finally moved north on Main street, and a big, laughing crowd gathered as the group of snake dancers, numbering more than 500 entered the Greystone night club through the front door and went out the stage door.

Motorists who failed to get into the spirit of things and started to blow their horns, were ignored. One driver got stuck in the middle of the Fourth and Walnut streets intersection and a group of celebrants ran around the car.

Meanwhile the band marched up Park avenue west to the Ohio theater.

The big, "super-secret surprise" came at 8:45 p. m. when hundreds of whooping, cheering Senior high schoolers literally swept their Tyger players off their feet as the team members came out of the Ohio theater after their usual Thursday night movie.

RIDE ON TRUCK

Loaded onto a flat-bottom truck by the enthusiastic school backers, the team was paraded through downtown streets, led by the snappy stepping Tyger Marching band.

Around the square, down Main to Fourth, up to the post office and then back to the Ohio the marchers paraded.

Said Coach Augie Morningstar: "I was overwhelmed by the spirit of the people and the students. I certainly hope we can pay 'em back for all of their enthusiasm with a win over Hamilton!"

All former Senior high athletic lettermen have been invited to participate in an additional "pep" show at Arlin field tonight. The monogram winners will be admitted free and will sit on field chairs. They will meet at 7:30 at the southwest gate.

Paving In City Park Damaged

A stern warning to the vandals who last night tore up Middle Park drive was issued today by Park Supt. Frank Burton.

He reported that for the second time in three weeks a row of bricks, 18 inches wide, had been pried off the street from one side to the other.

Motorists traveling through the park from Park avenue west to West Fourth street barely escaped injury as well as damage to their cars as they hit the rut in the road, Burton said.

He added that the vandals, if caught, would be prosecuted to the full extent of the law and would be cited to answer charges before Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer.

"Tearing up the brick is a very dangerous prank," Burton said. "Riders, especially small children who often stand in the front seat of the car, could be thrown against the windshield and seriously injured when a car, moving at a normal rate of speed, strikes the rut in the road."

Boy, 4, Strangles

KENT — (AP) — Thomas Finch, 4, climbed up the side of a parked car and put his head in through the partly open window, then apparently lost his balance. A university student found him later, strangled. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Finch.

The Californian had left quietly to look for a Rotary meeting in another town along his route.

Missile Smashes Window

Promised More Police Aid

Sheriff's deputies today promised added protection for business places in the Bowman street area after the Renie Metal Products company reported a large chunk of concrete was thrown through its office window.

The attack on the metal products plant at 807 Bowman street followed two previous vandalistic acts at the plant. Thirty-six windows have been smashed with stones in the past two weeks.

P. G. Renie, president of the products company, said he "doubted" if children could have thrown the heavy piece of concrete through the window. Furniture inside the office was damaged.

LARGE BLOCK THROWN

Renie said the concrete measured six inches square, and the office windows are a considerable height from the ground.

Meanwhile, Ed Salyers, operator of the Neuman Pure Oil station at Henry and Bowman streets, reported to sheriff's deputies that his station was entered through a broken glass in the door and 60 pennies were removed from the cash register.

The station is directly across the street from Renie Metal Products plant. Deputies said they believed a youngster of slight build had entered the station since the opening in the door glass was too small for an adult.

Mifflin Sets School Talk

Township Plans New Building

A meeting to discuss the type of school building to be erected for Mifflin township has been called for next Thursday at 8 p. m. in Vetsville hall.

County Supt. of Schools Boyd Robinson, who announced the meeting, said it was called by the Mifflin board of education. Parents of children attending Mifflin township schools and residents of the township are urged to attend the meeting.

Plans are to construct a six-room consolidated school to replace five one-room schools now in use in that district. The school will be put up on the three and one-half acre tract presently occupied by the Center Hall school on U. S. Route 30.

The board now has $72,000 available for the building. This includes $24,000 made available by the passage of a bond issue in the Nov. 2 election and $48,000 as the result of a previous bond issue.

Charles Marr, of New Philadelphia, is the architect for the project and will attend the meeting, Robinson said.

Trailer Rams Cars

SHELBY—Two new cars, a parking meter and a near-miss at the front window of an East Main street cafe was the "score" of a runaway 15-ton trailer here last night.

The trailer, loaded with steel sheets, broke away from the truck as the vehicle passed over the elevated B and O crossing on East Main street, police said.

Persons in the Freezie cafe escaped injury when a 1948 model car, owned by T. V. Wiggins of Laurelville, parked in front of the cafe, stopped the trailer momentarily.

The runaway trailer then smashed a car owned by H. W. Palmer, 585 West Third street, Mansfield, and a parking meter near the car which was sheared off by the impact.

Police said the truck, a Michigan Motor Freight transport, was driven by Julian Vigneron, 31, of Fostoria.

Library Adds Sandburg's Monumental First Novel

"Remembrance Rock," by Carl Sandburg, is one of 21 new books which will be available at the Mansfield Public library Monday. Sandburg's book is an historical novel divided into three periods: Plymouth colony, Philadelphia in the 1770's, and Illinois before and during the Civil war.

Sandburg's prologue and epilogue, set in our own day, urge the reader to remember what America has cost. Rich in local color, folk speech and folk wisdom, the novel, Sandburg's first, is a prodigious effort to recover the past. The respect and affection it shows for past generations of Americans makes it a monumental contribution to the literature of patriotism.

THE HICKORY STICK, by Virgil Scott, is the story of Doug Harris, a small town school teacher, and his fight to maintain his personal integrity and to be a real teacher in the midst of the politics of a local school system. This is a serious novel of special interest to teachers and parents.

THREE ROADS TO VALHALLA, by Catherine Pomeroy Stewart, is a story of the Reconstruction in Jacksonville, Fla. Young Kate Rider accompanies her weak, ineffectual father to Jacksonville, where he is to head the Freedman's bureau. The new life they have planned ends in tragedy when Kate marries the wrong man and her father is murdered. At last, however, virtue triumphs and we see a promise of happier days for Kate.

THE RUNNING OF THE TIDE, by Esther Forbes, is a long, rich novel of Salem in the days of sailing ships. It is in particular, the story of Ma'am Inman, who owned many ships, and of her grandsons, who sailed them.

Other fiction includes "But the Patient Died," by MacQueen, and "Fourth Funeral," by Heberden.

Two memorial books are among this week's new non-fiction. "Sandwich, the Town That Glass Built," by Harriot Buxton Barbour, was presented to the library in memory of Harrison D. Lowrey. It is the history of that Cape Cod town and the industry that made it famous.

GREEN WORLD OF THE NATURALISTS, by Victor Von Hagen, was presented in memory of Mrs. Paul Sturges jr. It is an anthology of South American naturalists arranged chronologically, and recaptures much of the thrill felt by the Old World when it first heard of the new. These books are the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mowry.

GREEN MOUNTAIN FARM by Elliott Merricks, is a new book on the joys of country living. The author and his family begin life anew on a tumbledown farm on the shores of Lake Memphremagog in Vermont. Skiing down to the lake to cut ice, swimming in the lake after haying, helping the neighbors, and all the usual country activities make up the life of the Merricks. This should appeal especially to those who like to get their country living vicariously.

ZULU WOMAN, by Rebecca Reyher, is an account of the life of Christina, first wife of Solomon, king of the Zulus from 1913 to 1933. Christina was a Christian and did not believe in polygamy as practiced by Solomon. She lived through a period of humiliation, which finally led to divorce. The book is a fine introduction to a little known culture and to a woman of great strength of character:

Other non-fiction: "Practical Job Evaluation," by Jones; "Fall of the Spanish American Empire," by Madariaga; "Struggle Behind the Iron Curtain," by Nagy; "What Electronics Does," by Zeluff and Markus; "And There I Stood With My Piccolo," by Wilson; "Let's Visit Canada," by Steegmuller; "Your Job," by Kaufmann; "Airline Traffic and Operations," by Baker; "North American Trees," by Preston; "Mineral Key," by Graves; "Animals Alive," by Clark.

Everyone Late But the Judge

POTTSVILE, Pa. (U.P.)—It was simple to understand why Schuylkill County common pleas court Judge Charles W. Staudenmeier frowned.

When a case was called for trial, no defendant appeared. A capias was issued. When the defendant reported, it was discovered the prosecuting attorney was missing. A capias was ordered served on him.

To save time when waiting, the judge ordered an assault and battery case called to trial. The court was told counsel for the defendant was not present. He was summoned by phone, but en route to court, his auto broke down.

When counsel finally arrived, it was discovered a juror was missing.

The judge counted to 10 and declared a recess.

Caribbean Talk Start Slated Dec. 1

Four Government Parley Nears

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad—(AP)—A plan to help put the territories of the Caribbean on a sounder economic basis is to be explored shortly.

Representatives of the possessions of the United States, Britain, France and Holland are to meet in Guadeloupe, a French island, starting Dec. 1. Plans for the meeting were announced by the Caribbean commission at its central secretariat here. The commission is an advosiry and coordinating agency set up by the four governments.

The meetings at Guadeloupe, one of the picturesque little territories, will last two or three weeks and will be the third session of the West Indian Conference. The first was held at Barbados in 1944 and the second at St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, in 1946.

The conference is without legislative authority. It provides opportunity for an interchange of information, and discussion and study of common problems.

Nearly all of the colonies and territories have several problems in common: (1) A large percentage of their inhabitants are in low income groups; (2) Production of essential foods is insufficient to meet local needs; (3) Industrial development is generally lacking; (4) Housing is inadequate; (5) Shipping facilities between islands and the outside world is limited; (6) Productive employment is scarce.

Mechanically-Minded Federals Use Meters To Fix Tax on Suds

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—I spent a whole day at the National Bureau of Standards—trying to learn whether Uncle Sam gets all that's coming to him in taxes when you skid a dime across the bar for a mug of beer.

Your Uncle is doing all right, thanks to a 270-pound hunk of bronze machinery called a "beer meter." More of that later.

The dollars and cents angle comes from Harold A. Serr, chief of the field inspection division of the Alcohol Tax unit. He reports the 450 brewers in the country turned out 86,992,795 barrels of suds for the fiscal year ended June 30th. Tax collections (at roughly $8 a barrel) added up to $697,097,257.83.

Serr is strictly a meter man. He says the brewers used to give the tax people a rough shuffle before the things came in.

In the old days, the tax man visited the breweries once a day to measure the beer in the tanks. Some beer men would see the revenooer comin' and tip the tank. Measurements would be made where the level was lowest. Uncle lost tax money.

That sort of thing doesn't happen today. Not with the beer meter system the Bureau of Standards operates for the Internal Revenue department. The meter division is bossed by Miss Helen M. Darby, a pleasant little lady who is a mechanical engineer. Simply stated, the meters are used to measure the number of barrels of beer put out by each producer. Everything going out of a brewery today flows through a meter. The vats won't tip any more either.

Each brewery has its own set of meters. Those owned by the government are sent out periodically to double-check the private ones. They're equipped with delicate insides—as delicate, Miss Darby says, as the works of your wrist watch.

Miss Darby is wrapped up in her work and worries and frets like a mother hen. And when one of those beer meters (which look something like the top of an old-fashioned butter church) comes down with something busted she does everything but sit up nights with it.

And her files! She has a record of every test ever made on every meter the government owns.

Only trouble with the system is that, in tests, Miss Darby doesn't use beer.

Bridegroom New English Guess Game

Help Margaret In Selection

LONDON—(INS)—In the London pubs, in swank Mayfair and in the quiet suburbs, Britons are playing the guessing game:

"Who will be Princess Margaret Rose's choice for a husband?"

With the same ardor with which they attack the weekly football predictions, the British are now speculating as to the identity of the young man who will stand beside Margaret in Westminster Abbey and murmur "I do."

At the moment, the young man's identity is anyone's guess. But neither this—nor the fact that Buckingham Palace frowns on the fuss over 18-year-old Margaret—is dampening the enthusiasm of the predictors.

Further, it is known that the King, Queen Elizabeth, and Margaret herself are opposed to "child marriages." The ruling couple, like most parents, feel that Margaret is entitled to her "fling" before settling down. The vivacious and pert princess aggrees.

The consensus among dowagers and court veterans is that Margaret—like Elizabeth—will not wed until she has passed her 20th birthday. And although the palace won't comment on this it's believed they concur.

As for the many handsome young men whose names have been romantically linked with Margaret, the court's attitude is that they are merely "good friends." Nothing serious, says the court.

For the most part they are the same type of aristocratic young Britons—of impeccable manners and fine breeding—who showered attention on Elizabeth before her marriage.

The requirements for escorting a royal princess are mainly these: six feet in height; good dancers; able to wear a uniform or white tie and tails "in the manner born"; and most important—acceptable to their majesties.

If Margaret has any preference, she isn't talking—nor is it noticeable that she plays favorites. The speculating, predicting and guessing about her "one and only" definitely amuses her.

At 18, Margaret has blossomed into a good-looking, spirited and lively girl. Acquaintances say that alongside her, Elizabeth, who may some day rule England, is almost "stodgy."

Versatile Chick Crows, Lays Eggs

LINCOLIN, Neb. (U.P.—Mrs. F. A. Gilliam has a versatile chick she says crows at the rising sun and lays eggs every other day.

"It," she said, bepan its productive life complete with cock's comb and epg-laying ability.

The eight-month-old fowl is a mixture of Rhode Island Red and Buff Orphington, she said. It is one of a dozen birds the Gilliams own.

Its status is unusual but not unheard of, according to Prof. Frank E. Mussehl, professor of poultry husbandry at the state agriculture college.

Study of Baby Allergies Sees Hay Fever as Threat

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—Babies who have a rash or colic may be allergic and may develop hay fever or asthma when they grow older.

Babies who continually spit up small amounts of milk or whose tonsils grow back likewise may be allergic.

That is the warning today of Dr. Norman W. Clein, director of the Children's clinic and chief of pediatric services at King county hospital in Seattle. He is one of several experts conducting a course in allergies at the University of Oregon medical school this week.

Among Dr. Clein's discoveries are:

Two thirds of 100 allergic babies he and associates studied later developed chronic hay fever.

One third got summer hay fever.

A fourth developed asthma.

One in three developed eczema.

One in four got hives or stomach trouble.

Dr. Clein reported that as the children grow older most of them outgrow sensitivity to food. Instead, they become sensitive to house dust and such things as lint from feather pillows, kapok in mattresses, woolen blankets, pets and fuzzy toys.

Scout Troop Gets Charter

LEXINGTON—Boy scout Troop No. 1 held its 12th charter night Wednesday in the parlors of the Presbyterian church here.

Scoutmaster Simon Seif introduced C. G. Hillier, district commissioner, Howard Stauffer, deputy commissioner, C. L. Kimel, former area commissioner, and W. C. Mead, area council president.

Mead presented the charter to the troop and complimented the boys for their record of achievements during the past year.

Hillier awarded five-year-service pins to Donne Jesson and Duane Wirick; and a 10-year pin to Seif, who has served as scoutmaster since 1938.

Assistant Scoutmaster Harold Robinson acted as master of ceremonies. He gave a review of the troop's activities for the past year.

Motion pictures were shown.

Dinner was provided by the Scouts' mothers.

Vans Show Juveniles Prison Life

Kids Can Sit In 'Hot Seat'

By RALPH L. GUYETTE

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — "Stop that crime! You can't win!" in big black letters, topped by a row of iron-barred windows, these words are today touring the cities of the United States on two of J. Edward Slavin's "Jails on Wheels."

Sleek and well-kept, these jails are tailor-made motor vans which house all the equipment of a modern jail; sawed-off shot guns, handcuffs, revolvers, drunk-o-meters, radio set, and even an authentic electric chair and bucket-type cell.

The purpose of these jails is to demonstrate to the youth of America the folly of attempting to buck the law.

Slavin, who is a former sheriff of New Haven county Connecticut, is firm in his belief that, if a youngster sits in an electric chair and puts the leg irons around his calves and the steel cap on his head, he will never forget what the reward is for high achievement in the world of crime.

He believes that if a boy hears the cell door clang shut behind him, he will carry that feeling of confinement with him all the days of his youth. Young, impressionable children will remember, and they will think twice before becoming first offenders.

The idea of Slavin's first began to grow roots while he was a Connecticut sheriff. Amazed at the large number of young fellows who monthly passed in and out of his institution, the former sheriff was on the job but a few weeks when he began to take steps which later led to his becoming a famed champion of wayward youngsters.

In the driver's seat as he was, Sheriff Slavin soon learned why these youngsters were in jail instead of school. They had no homes, or none to speak of. In most cases, their parents were dead or didn't get along with each other, or just didn't care what happened to their offspring.

"This," thought the sheriff, "is something the public should know about." So in the days that followed, Sheriff Slavin went through his jail interviewing the youngsters who were committed to his care.

Most of them were still in the teen-age bracket from 16 up. He got their stories, then with money of his own he arranged for a radio program which told the world why these boys were behind bars.

He called his program, "Stop the First Offender." He organized young people's clubs under this same title, publicized it in every way he could, and within one year a national radio network picked up the idea and, paying all expenses, broadcast it over a nation-wide hook-up for five years.

By now his office had become a child-problem center for hundreds of troubled parents. People came to him by the score for an answer to the question—what to do with little Jim or Dick or Betty. He tried to help them all.

HUH-UH! NOT FOR ME! These girls get a rough idea of punishment on a visit to a Jail on Wheels.

In one case, at the request of the parent, Sheriff Slavin actually put a boy behind the bars in an attempt to cure him of shoplifting. For years the boy's father had paid for the boy's thefts, had covered up for him in every way he could in the hope that the youngster would stop. However, the boy hadn't; so the father went to Sheriff Slavin for help.

The boy was over 16, and the father was willing; so Sheriff Slavin put him in jail overnight. He let him eat what the other prisnoers ate, let him sleep on a hard straw mattress, kept him behind the steel bars, and then in the morning turned him loose. Today that boy is a Yale graduate and an enterprising young lawyer.

It was this first success that gave the former law man his idea of letting youngsters see what was in store for them should they commit crime.

Slavin's policy was to let them see, but let them out before they became too familiar with their surroundings — before they lost their fear of jail.

Two years ago, when Sheriff Slavin resigned his post, he purchased his first Jail on Wheels. For a year it traveled the country, and everywhere it went the boys and girls thought it "just swell."

So once again he dug deeply into his sock. Mortgaging, scraping, borrowing, Slavin finally gathered together enough money to buy another Jail on Wheels which he sent after the first to do what it could to eliminate "the first offender."

When one of these jails enters a city it goes first of all to one of the school yards. Here each morning its doors are opened to the children. Instructors, who travel with the jail, carefully explain all the the workings of the apparatus within.

They take the children from leg irons to teletype, from guns to manacles, and then for a peek into the bucket-type cell. From there they go along down the last mile for a look at the electric chair.

In the afternoon the Jail on Wheels is taken downtown and parked at some busy intersection where the general public may look it over.

At the exit from the jail a plate is strategically placed so that whosoever desires may make a contribution to crime prevention.

Donations received in this fashion are used to pay expenses and support the latest of ex-Sheriff Slavin's charities — a home for boys at Milford, Conn.

Slavin calls it Boys' Village. Here he allows the boys to do all the things a normal boy should—go to the movies, ride trolley cars, run down to the corner store for candy, go to church, or the hundred and one other things that a boy does when he has a normal home.

The kindly ex-sheriff hopes some day to have at least six of his Jails on Wheels touring the country. He estimates that this number could visit each town in the United States at least once every four years.

"And even if they save only one boy from the electric chair," says Slavin, "they'll be well worth their cost."

Union Local Leaves CIO

TOLEDO, —(AP)— The local retail, wholesale and Department Store Workers union (CIO) has seceded from the international organization.

A statement issued by the union recently quoted local director Lawrence Steinberg as blaming the secession on failure to agree with international officers on handling of the communist and other issues.

The action affects employes of more than 80 retail and wholesale concerns here and three Pet Milk company plants in nearby Ohio, Indiana and Michigan communities.

Steinberg was dismissed as state director of the union last year after he brought charges criticizing Samuel Wolchok of New York, international union president. The charges were dismissed by an international union trial committee.

Steinberg said in the release that some 50,000 members had disaffiliated and that "the entire union is disintegrating."

Suspect Killed

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Two detectives shot and killed Brodas Boatwright, 30, last night when he ran from them during questioning. He and a companion were being quizzed about recent taxicab robberies, detectives said. The shooting took place on a sidewalk in the Seville housing project, East 154th street.

It's a Long Step From Door to Floor

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Absent-minded William Sheridan, 50, was in fair condition today, but his back and shoulders hurt him as he lay in a Columbus hospital.

Sheridan drove his car into a service station yesterday, and stepped out a few moments later.

In the meantime, a grease rack had hauled the auto 10 feet in the air.

A scarf worn with a fur coat will keep it from wearing at the collar line.

Order Recounts

EAST LIVERPOOL —(AP)— The Columbiana a county Board of Elections has ordered recounts at Lisbon Nov. 18 of the Nov. 2 vote on a half-mill current expense tax levy at Salem and a $210,000 school bond issue here. Each proposal lacked only about 50 votes of the required 65 per cent.

English Foxes Get Backing In London

By BILL MACKLIN

LONDON—(AP)—Tally ho! The hunting horns would be silenced in Britain under a proposed bill to give control of foxes to the minister of agriculture.

Anthony Greenwood, Socialist member of Parliament, intends to introduce legislation after Christmas that would outlaw fox hunting behind hounds on the ground that it is cruel.

Under the bill the minister would decide by what alternative means the fox population can be kept down within limits. English foxes steal chickens, too. The measure also would apply to three other animals that sometimes become the quarry of hounds and huntsmen—the stag, the hare and the otter.

Discovery of the plan aroused fox hunting conservatives in Parliament. Tory newspapers galloped Paul Revere across the pages sounding the alarm. It looks now like brewing into a bangup battle between the Socialists, devotees of other sports, and the landed classes who enjoy chasing foxes as their grandpas did.

The tenth Duke of Beaufort, whose ancestors are mentioned for fox hunting exploits in the Encyclopedia Britannica, appealed for the support of lovers of hunting in a letter to the Daily Telegraph.

"Anti-sport propaganda is having a most unfortunate effect on the relations between town and country," wrote the Duke, who has plenty of room for fox hunting on his 52,000 acres.

"Today there is a feeling of sullen anger in the countryside which grows in intensity with the growth of attacks on our cherished sport."

A member of the rival camp, E. G. Barlow, secretary of the National Society for Abolition of Cruel Sports, rushed a reply to the Telegraph.

"I would remind the Duke," Barlow wrote, "that at one time bull baiting, bear baiting, cock fighting, etc., were regarded as 'traditional country sports,' but the country was none the worse off for these being abolished."

The British Field Sports Society circulated a petition among hunters.

Even though Greenwood might get his measure passed in the Socialist commons, it would have tough sledding in the House of Lords where the ranks of fox hunters are as deep as redcoats at Bunker Hill.

Hunting behind hounds survived the railroads, automobiles, the slicing of family estates into small farms and the enormous taxes on aristocratic incomes. One observer predicted it would live beyond Greenwood.

"The odds are overwhelmingly against anything more than a demonstration," wrote the political correspondent of the Liberal News-Chronicle.

Fox hunting has completely recovered from the wartime pinch when packs were trimmed because of food rationing. More than 100 packs, numbering dozens of hounds each, are active now. In rural England scarlet-jacketed men and women riding behind the barking hounds and the huntsman's cry of "tally ho" are familiar sights and sounds.

PAUL SHINKMAN

THE SOVIETS are losing strength in Europe but might have to wage war to "save face" if their bluff is called, according to Paul Shinkman, Ceneral Press correspondent and Washington, D. C., radio news commentator, who has just returned from a three-month roving news assignment in England, France, Holland, Germany, Austria and Czechoslovakia. He will make a nation-wide lecture tour. Pushes Barrow Across America

CINCINNATI — (INS) — Larry Hightower, wheelbarrow and all, rolled into Cincinnati yesterday.

Since leaving the state of Washington on July 4, 1946, Hightower has shoved his barrow across 22 states for a total of 8,128 miles.

He said he averaged 14 to 18 miles a day and experienced little trouble with equipment breakdowns. The tire on his wheelbarrow is holding up fine.

CLEARFIELD, Pa.—(AP)—The bodies of C. Buzz Johnson and Clair E. Conaway of nearby Woodland, missing since Tuesday on a flight from Akron, were found ten miles north of here yesterday. Their plane had crashed in a heavily wooded section.

Donations Made

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Five children of Charles F. Williams each gave the Cincinnati art museum $30,000 yesterday to commemorate his interest in artistic Cincinnati during his life. Williams, president of the Western & Southern Life Insurance company, is 75. The $150,000 is to found a new department of near eastern and oriental art.

Marysville Prisoners Present Show

MARYSVILLE—The first of 12 scheduled performances of the annual show staged by the inmates of the Ohio Reformatory for Women will be held Nov. 17, Supt. Marguerite Reilly announced today.

The first show will begin at 8 p. m., followed by daily performances until Nov. 28. Matinees will be given on Nov. 20, 27 and 28 and on Thanksgiving day, Nov. 25 at 2 p. m.

Titled the "Fall Festival," proceeds from the all-inmate show will be used for the institution's welfare fund which supplies inmates at Marysville with movies, athletics and other recreation projects.

Mrs. Reilley said that reformatory officials were undecided until recently whether to stage their annual show this year because of the high cost of production. However, inquiries showing much public interest caused officials to go ahead again with the 1948 festival.

During the last show staged by inmates in the fall of 1947 more than 5,000 persons witnessed the nine public performances.

In this year's production, a cast of about 50 inmates will be used and will feature old and new songs and stunts. Girls who take part in the show are members of the institution's dramatic organization and must earn the right to participate in shows by possessing continuing good conduct records.

As in years past, the 1948 production will consist of individual performances of dancing, singing, and clowning with the institution's best talent included in the show.

Five Cent Election

XENIA—(AP)—It was a well-earned nickel deficit, the Greene county Democrats thought. The county executive committee reported receipts of $432 and expenses of $432.05 to elect a Democratic sheriff, prosecutor, and one county commissioner. They are the first Democrats to win in 12 years in the county.

Thirteen Tyger Seniors In Home Finals

SEVEN DOWN and three to go. . . . That's the spot we find ourselves in when surveying the country's college football skeds. . . . But there's a bit of difference on the high school front. . . . Tonight's Mansfield-Hamilton contest ends things for local fans as far as home games are concerned. . . . Only thing scheduled scholastically after this week is the Tygers' jaunt to unbeaten Martins Ferry next Friday. . . . Mansfield is a definite underdog for the first time tonight. . . . It will be interesting to watch the result of the Tyger pep "tank trap." . . . But leave us back to the prognostication stogie and the college contests. . . . Last week, things came out about like this—66 right, 21 wrong and four ties. . . . That makes 443-140-25 for the season. . . . Let's see, the experts say Illinois is the team over Ohio State. . . . We gotta be contrary. . . . So for the dig of the week we take Ohio State by 13 points. . . . And to work.

Hamilton 11 To Provide Opposition

Thirteen Senior high school Tyger football performers will listen to the plaudits of a Mansfield grid crowd for the final time tonight when the Bengals battle the undefeated Hamilton Big Blue at Arlin field.

Kickoff time is listed for 8 p. m. at the annual Homecoming encounter. Vying with the grid battle for top billing will be another of the "four star" half-time shows. The Tyger booster club and the crack Marching Tyger band will team up for a spectacular coronation of the queen.

Of the 13 seniors, 11 of them are due for quite a lot of action. Coach Augie Morningstar will have six of the seniors in the starting lineup, four on the line and two in the backfield. Jim Chamberlin, who suffered a broken arm after the first game, is the only senior not sure of action.

FINAL APPEARANCES

Making their final appearance will be, Ends, Bernie Weaver and Ken Carver, Tackles, Norb Shibinski and Mike Gruber; Guards, Tony Taddeo and Bob Burkhart; Centers, George Russell and Chamberlain; Backs, Capt. Joe Miller, Paul Ferguson, Lou Gregorio, Harry Osbun and Joe Letizia.

If enthusiasm means anything, the Tygers should be right in the midst of things at the final gun. A constant succession of pep rallies rocked Mansfield and Senior high school all week. The celebration was topped off with a giant snake dance and impromptu parade last night.

However, the Hamilton Big Blue will be into the contest as the top-heavy favorite. Hamilton has won eight straight games this season, presenting Ohio's most staggering offensive. The Big Blue has scored 341 points, an average of 42.6 per game. The visitors have allowed 64 points and are rated the second best team in the state.

TYGERS 16TH

Senior high has won six of eight contests to hold down 16th position in the Ohio ratings. The Tygers have scored 211 points and allowed 111.

Neither team has been too impressive in the matter of defense so a thrilling high-scoring battle could result. Fifteen members of the Big Blue have gotten into the scoring column. Jim "Boxcar" Bailey and Jack Gordon lead the attack with 17 and 16 touchdowns respectively. End Bob Sumser has kicked 25 extra points.

Bailey and Gordon are both "gone" when they pass the line of scrimmage. Four of the Tygers, too, have shown an ability to go the distance. This group includes Miller, Gregorio, A. C. Jenkins and Little Tommy Tucker.

14 LETTERMEN

Hamilton has 14 lettermen off the 1947 club which defeated the Bengals, 19 to 7. The group includes: Ends, Wally Duemer, and Sumser; Tackles, Gene Seegmueller and Bob Stumpf; Guards, Ed Laven and Lozia Smith; Center, Jim Truett; Backs, Bailey, Gordon, Gene Baldwin, Eddie Ortoff, Larry Prentner, Dale Stitzel and Bill Wilks.

Oddly enough, Ora Day, the 180-pound team captain, did not win a letter last year. Coach Chuck Thackara has 21 seniors and 16 juniors on his squad. Every starter is a senior.

The entire Bengal squad will witness the Cleveland Browns-San Francisco game Sunday as guests of the Tyger booster club. The players, coaches and managers will leave Sunday at 10 a. m.

TYGER OFFENSIVE ACE—A. C. Jenkins, Senior high's all-around athlete, will carry a good share of the offensive load tonight against Hamilton at Arlin field. The 175-pound junior fullback has carried the leather 87 times for 704 yards to lead the Bengal attack. Jenkins has scored seven times.—(News-Journal photo)

Shelby-Crestline Game Can Change NOL Standings

Although Bucyrus has already been crowned as the 1948 champions, the final game on the Northern Ohio league football schedule tonight can affect the standing of four clubs Crestline and Shelby, which meet at Shelby at 8 p. m., can change their positions as can noncombatants Bellevue and Willard.

Crestline now holds down fourth place, with Bellevue, Shelby and Willard following in that order. A Crestline victory will throw Shelby into a tie with Willard, while a Shelby win will finish Crestline, Bellevue and Shelby in a three-way tie.

Crestline has won half of its six starts while Shelby has won two and lost four.

All other league teams will be in action on non-loop fronts. Bucyrus is host to Mansfield Madison, New London goes to Willard, and Ashland plays at Galion in games involving teams of this area

Others on the card include Carey at Upper Sandusky, Port Clinton at Bellevue, and Norwalk at Toledo Witmer.

Frank Albert, Matheson Top Frisco 49ers

CLEVELAND — (INS) — According to Coach Buck Shaw of the San Francisco 49-ers, Frankie Albert, a collection of rookies and Riley Matheson have put the all-conference title contenders on top of the league

The distinctive looking mentor arrived in Cleveland last night with his San Francisco squad to make final preparations for Sunday's crucial battle with the Cleveland Browns at the stadium. Both teams are undefeated and untied but the 49-ers have played one more game than Cleveland.

PRETTY LUCKY

"We have been hot most of the time," said Shaw, "but we've been pretty lucky, too. Naturally, we're better than last year but we have some weak spots in spite of what the record shows."

The San Francisco coach said that Albert has been the biggest single factor in the 49-ers quest of the AAC title, but he gave a lot of credit to Matheson.

"We have only 14 of last year's team with us," he said, "but Matheson has been a tremendous help He holds our rookies together on defense."

Huge Crowd To See Game At Bellville

BELLVILLE—Some three thousand people, most ever to witness a sporting event here, will jam every available inch of space around the high school field tonight for the long-awaited Bellville-Loudonville football game.

Coach Harry Regula's hometown Blue Jays will be making a bid to complete the first undefeated, untied season in the school's history, and at the same time wrap up the Mohican league championship. A defeat tonight would throw the loop championship into a three-way tie between Bellville, Loudonville and Millersburg.

HAS WON EIGHT

Bellville has run roughshod over eight opponents to date while Loudonville has won six of eight outings. Bellville fans are quite "heated up" over the game, and staged a pep rally and bonfire on the school grounds last night. All sorts of celebrations have been planned if the Blue Jays win.

On the basis of scores against common foes, Regula's men must be rated definite favorites. Four clubs have faced both teams and only one has fared better off against the Blue Jays. New London was beaten, 41-0, by Loudonville and only 25-0 by the Jays. Rain however, slowed things down in the latter contest.

Against the three league foes, Bellville won over Millersburg, 20-6, Fredericktown, 37-18, and Danville, 33-6. Loudonville lost 13-0 to Millersburg, while beating Fredericktown, 12-6, and Danville 14-0.

BELLVILLE HEAVIER

A wet field would make Bellville an even heavier favorite since it outweighs Loudonville by a seven-pound-per-man margin. The Bellville team averages 158 pounds, Loudonville 151. Both teams use primarily ground attacks although both have good passers and can take to the air if necessary

Eleven seniors will make their last appearances in a Bellville grid suit They are regulars Bill Lyons, Jim Gatton, Phil Stoodt, Glenn Worner, Ray Bell, Will Walker and Jim Gleason, and subs Chuck Eagleston, Stan Bowers Donley Weller, and Dwain Spayde. Bill Smith, another senior letterman, has been out for some time with a bad knee.

Bellville Fullback Jim Fry, a junior, missed last week's game with a bad ankle, but will see some service tonight. The lineups:

Loudonville (wt.)	Pos.	(wt.) Bellville
Mature (137)	LE	(190) Lyons
Remington (140)	LT	(185) Gatton
Vaughn (142)	LG	(155) P Stoodt

Let's Go South Young Men; Northern Footballers Do

ATLANTA—(AP)—The decision in the war between the states still may rankle a little in Dixie but down here there's nothing but love for those Yankee football players.

These football tourists who carry pigskin carpetbags are down in numbers—113 of them at Southeastern conference schools alone—and about 40 of them are among Dixie's most beloved.

Who did the wooing which brought them south is a question too hot to argue here. Some no doubt proposed football employment themselves and others no doubt were prompted to come south for fame, fun, funds and football—to say nothig of a free education.

The money attraction to come south was shut off last winter when the Southeastern conference became pure with all the rest under the NCAA code.

However, the other attractions still must be strong as freshmen squad rosters bristle with names of states and cities a long way from the states rights country.

In one case a northern state—Pennsylvania—has more football players in the southeast than Kentucky, a state in the conference. Pennsyvania has 39 loyal sons of Dixie doing well while Kentucky has only 31

OHIO IS SECOND

Ohio is the second ranking producer of Yankee football talent in the South—24 Ohioans strayed from Ohio State, Miami and Cincinnati university The University of Illinois, Northwestern, et al, missed 15 players and Indiana misses ten.

Six each from New York and New Jersey, five from Connecticut, two each from Rhode Island and faraway Minnesota, and one each from Nebraska, Michigan, Massachusetts and Iowa complete the 113 Yanks

The status of West Virginia as northern or southern is debatable south.

but meanwhile 11 varsitymen are

The Georgia Bulldogs lead the conference, but only 26 of the 61-man squad are Georgians. Pennsylvania and Penn State could use Georgia's Joe Geri, leading Southeastern scorer with 60 points Geri's home is Phoenixville, Pa. Johnny Rauch, one of the nation's best passers, is a Georgia backbone from Yeadon, Pa. The Reid brothers, Floyd and Bernie, came from Hamilton, O.

FIRST STRING BACK

Chuck Hunsinger is a top candidate for all-Southeastern for the Florida Gators He's from Harrisburg, Ill. Alex Gardiner of McDonald, O., is first string fullback.

Auburn's best sophomore runner—Ray Pelfrey—played high school football at home in Portsmouth, O

The village of Mingo Junction, O., is interested in Dixie football because Al Diorio and Steve Fortunato play for Alabama Winchester, Ill., and Uniontown, Pa., sent Clem Walsh and Charley Davis to the Crimson Tide. Another Ohioan, Guard Jim Franko, comes from Yorkville, and Howard Pierson registered from Succasunna, N. J.

Vanderbilt's Carl Copp, a giant tackle, slipped away from Ohio State. He's from Dayton.

Good Ohio 'Game' Season Listed

COLUMBUS—(INS)—With an increase in numbers and greater distribution of game, state conservation commissioner H. A. "Buck" Rider says Nov. 15 will open a good season for Ohio hunters. Rabbits — especially cottontail—show a marked increase over last season.

With five Saturdays and Thanksgiving included in the Nov. 15-Dec. 18 open season, most hunters should be able to bag their daily limit of four, and for those who like to eat their kill quickly, the possession limit of four should present no problem. Legal hunting hours are from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Pheasants have increased greatly since last year and are more widely distributed, but the amount is still only 42 per cent of the prewar level. Hunting hours are the same as for rabbits.

Ruffled grouse, on the other hand, are in abundance. The grouse is wily and extremely sensitive to the presence of man and it requires a skillful nimrod to bag his day's limit of two. The bird is widely scattered over rough terrain, preferring food which does not grow in quantity in all areas It may be hunted from 9 to 4.

URGES SHIFT

Dr. E. D Martin of the game management division says that only nine per cent of last year's hunters aimed at bagging grouse. He urges that the emphasis be shifted from pheasant to its more elusive cousin in the interest of conservation

Deer season opens Dec. 13 and lasts until Dec. 18. There will be 10,000 targets this year, to be stalked with shotguns loaded with single ball, rifles or bows and arrows Those who go primitive and use the last method will share the full five days of the season with those using firearms Their bows, however, must have a pull of at least 40 pounds

With deer so plentiful the game commission hopes for a large harvest by hunters this year. Officials are doubtful of the adequacy of the food supply for winter.

Counties open for deer are: Lake, Geauga, Ashtabula, Trimble, Portage, Columbiana, Carrol, Mahoning, Stark, Summit, Harrison, Tuscarawas and Jefferson. Closed for this year, however, are Brush creek and Jefferson state hunting preserves in Jefferson county.

One deer, any sex, any age, may be taken by each man during the legal hunting hours, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., and the carcas must be tagged immediately after the kill.

An extra fee of $5 is required above the initial hunting license. This permits hunters to roam state lands in addition to the above counties.

'Football For Fun' Is Paying Off

DELAWARE — (AP) — Coach Glenn Fraser reports his "football for fun" system at Ohio Wesleyan university is paying the team double dividends—honor grades and an .833 playing record.

Nine varsity men made the school honor roll today with "A" averages and the beaming grid mentor commented:

"I said at the beginning of the season that we'd be light, fast and scholarly."

Coach Fraser, who attributes the sparkling grades to the "football for fun" method, said all 14 of his first stringers have better than average classroom records. The team won five, lost one.

"Football for fun" is intended to put the sport second in collegiate importance. Studies come first.

Two gridders whose performance with the books equals their football playing are brothers Bobby and Wayne McFarland of New Philadelphia.

Their marks, Fraser said, keep them consistently on the honor list. Bobby McFarland, a leader in total offense figures among Ohio conference ball-carriers, was sidelined last Saturday with a broken collar bone.

Three others high in scholarship are Ted Urbanowicz of Cleveland, Frank Jacobs of Dundee, Ill., and Kenny Woodward of Columbus.

Three linemen who contradict Urbanowicz. Fraser said, will take over Bobby McFarland's passing duties. Jacobs is the only Ohio conference player to score a touchdown in every game he's been in this season.

The old saw that "a lineman is a fullback with his brains knocked out" are the Long brothers—Tom, Al and Bill—of Delaware.

All three are inside the "A" class. Al, a senior tackle, had a perfect four point average last semester.

Bishop ends aren't to be ignored in the brain sector, either. Tom Wenzlau of Tipp city and Don Miller of Upper Arlington both sit at the head of the class, Fraser reported.

Other smart boys on the Red and Black forward wall are tackles Dick Kerr of Cleveland Heights, and Bruce Heisler, Ravenna all-Ohio. Both, along with guard Ray Leech of Morenci, Mich., are high in scholarship.

Two Seek Connection

NEW YORK —(INS)— Two veteran National league utility infielders, Lonnie Frey and Johnny McCarthy, were seeking a new baseball connection today. They were given their unconditional release by the New York Giants.
